Russians Aim At Confusion

By HON. LESTER B. PEARSON
(Copyright, 1957. All rights reserved.)

The decision last week of the United Nations sub-committee on disarmament to adjourn its meetings in London indefinitely—it is doubtful whether it will meet again—should be read in the light of two developments: (1) The Russian announcement of a successful test of an intercontinental ballistic missile and (2) The forthcoming meeting of the United Nations General Assembly.

The first has caused — as the Russians meant it to cause—some alarmed speculation about Russian leadership in this field of weapons and gloomy warnings that if we did not now succeed in disarming — at least atomically — we would all perish.

The fact that the Russians have fired a ballistic missile does not mean, however, that the Soviets have now, or are likely to have in the immediate future, these weapons in production and ready for military use. Nor does it at once alter significantly, if at all, the "balance of terror" against the West. The U.S.A., and now the U.K., have still adequate capacity for immediate and effective "massive retaliation."

While the implications of the situation are bad enough, there is no cause for exaggerated alarm—which is what the Communists want. The West will soon have produced its own reply to the new Russian weapon. It would come even sooner if within governments and between governments there were a single, centralized effort in the search for it. When it does, we will be just where we were — apart from the necessity of scrapping bombers and completely revising early warning and interception defence systems.

Our compelling purpose now should be to accept the implications of these ballistic missile developments, not only in terms of new defences but also of the extra diplomatic effort for peace and disarmament which becomes more and more pressing. But we should not allow these separate Russian announcements, designed to throw us off balance, distract us from this goal by ill-considered and hasty moves.

Canada 'Flu Rate High, Cases Suspected Here

Hot Spell Continues To Monday

Forests Barred, Hunters Miffed

Current hot spell that drove the official thermometer Friday to a new high for the year will continue through Sunday, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Highest temperature Friday, which also is the highest for this year and for any Sept. 13 here in Victoria, was 81.2 degrees. He said the maximum temperature today and Sunday will be about 80 degrees.

Although holidaymakers and picnickers are jubilant about the present clear, sunny, hot weather, hunters are annoyed at the possible fire hazard it has created.

MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., that had announced weeks ago that its lands would be open to hunters, on Friday said they would be closed for the opening of deer season today.

Areas affected are Copper Canyon at Chemainus, Nanaimo River, Northwest Bay at Parksville, Sprout Lake near Alberni, and Franklin River on the Alberni Canal.

Also closed to hunters were operations of Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd. at Ladysmith, Nanaimo Lakes, and Tsolum, near Courtenay.

Areas affected are Copper Canyon at Chemainus, Nanaimo River, Northwest Bay at Parksville, Sprout Lake near Alberni, and Franklin River on the Alberni Canal.

"We are taking a calculated risk and are leaving the forests open," one official said. "This has proved to be safe slash burning weather, because the humidity at night is high enough to control fires. Slash fires reaching green timber have been going out because of the high humidity in the green forests."

Highest temperature ever recorded here in September was 88.8 degrees Sept. 3, 1944. Highest Sept. 14 temperature was 88 degrees recorded in 1937.

INDIA SEEKS UN SEAT FOR COMMUNIST CHINA

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India moved today to get Communist China seated in the United Nations Assembly's 12th session, starting Tuesday. Indian delegate Arthur S. Lall said he gave Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld a letter late Friday night proposing the assembly put on its agenda the question of "representation of China in the United Nations."

The United States is certain to oppose the proposal.

Special Session 60-to-10 Vote Censures Oppression of Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The 11th General Assembly of the United Nations passed into history early today with a vote on Hungary—one of two major questions which confronted it at its inception since last autumn.

Bolton Keeps Seven-Year Soccer Mark

LONDON (UP) — Bolton, which hasn't lost a home soccer game to Manchester United in seven years, kept that jinx alive today by handing the league leaders their first loss of the year, 4-0.

Bolton took a 1-0 lead over the glamor team of Britain in the first half and surprised even the most loyal home-town rooters with its second-half attack. Leading the Bolton offense was Nat Lofthouse, an international star how playing centre-forward again after a spell at wing.

Manchester United, with 11 points in seven games, held its league lead when lowly regarded Aston Villa surprised second-place Luton, 2-0.

The special session was called to keep the Hungarian question alive in the 12th assembly which opens Tuesday. It was a continuation—or a tag-end in the view of many delegations—of the General Assembly which opened last November with the Hungarian and Suez crisis at the boiling point.

During the winter the Middle East crisis was resolved to a large extent through the use of the UN Emergency Force in the Suez area.

The Hungarian crisis resolved itself—the hard way—after Russia intervened to crush the uprising. The revolt was dead, but the West made continued efforts to keep its memory alive.

Epidemic Sweeps Several Areas

Suspicion that Asiatic flu, or a derivative of that virus, is already active in Victoria was voiced today by Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy.

She was commenting on news reports of a heavy incidence of a type of influenza, not necessarily the Asiatic variety, that is sweeping sections of the country. There are "a few" cases in town, she said, but no tests have yet been taken by local doctors, to her knowledge.

There is a flu going the rounds " . . . which could have started as Asiatic flu." The doctor explained the flu virus "mutates" or changes in quality as it passes through a population.

"I don't think it is very bad if it is here. When it hits school attendance we'll know it's here." So far, the doctor said, school nurses have reported school absenteeism is "normal."

The flu which has been reported to the doctor, " . . . is more severe than the usual cold. I have asked doctors to make tests, but I don't know whether any have done so yet."

The only laboratory conducting tests of blood of flu victims is in Ottawa. If there is sudden widespread illness here, symptoms will be noted and tests made.

After confirmation of the first case or "index case," the ailment will be accepted as present wherever the same symptoms are noted.

Possibility that the Asiatic flu virus has changed in nature since reaching this continent is contained in widespread reports of influenza, not labeled Asiatic.

In Halifax, the RCN reported 250 trainees at Cornwallis training base are suffering from a respiratory disease. It is being investigated to determine whether it is Asiatic flu.

Hole Swallows Whole Street

FARNWORTH, Eng. (AP)—The threat of floods brought new terror today to this Lancashire industrial town where a cave-in gobbled up virtually a whole street.

Know Your Teacher

MRS. K. COCHRANE

Ex-Teachers Of Teacher Colleagues

Two teachers who taught her in grade eight are now fellow staffers for Mrs. Kathleen Cochrane, 26, at Monterey School.

Principal W. C. Brynjolfsson and vice-principal Joseph P. Emery have been teaching at Monterey through the years that Mrs. Cochrane completed her education at Oak Bay High School, Victoria College, and the Provincial Normal School—then taught for six years before returning to Monterey.

Her teaching experience is gained from three years at a Burnaby school and another three at University Hill elementary school on the UBC campus. Now Mrs. Cochrane is passing on her knowledge to Monterey's grade three students.

A graduate of the architectural school at UBC, her husband Andrew, 28, came to Victoria to work for the provincial public works department and "it's certainly nice to be back," Mrs. Cochrane said.

The couple is moving into a new apartment at 1171 Newport with the hope they will move into a Cochrane-designed house in the near future.

Curtis Defends City's Grant

A defence of city council action in granting $2,100 to a Canadian Chamber of Commerce civic banquet here Sept. 28, was issued today by alderman Austin L. Curtis.

Heavy criticism has been directed at the grant recently by Ald. Hugh Ramsay, Ald. J. Donald Smith and in published statements by the public at large.

In his capacity as entertainment committee chairman for City Hall, Ald. Curtis pointed out: "After examining programs of former annual meetings of this body (the national chamber), as far back as they are available, in every case the host city tendered such an affair." It was his impression, said Ald. Curtis, that most of our citizens would want to do the same.

"This bringing together in one place approximately 700 leading industrialists and businessmen is eagerly sought out by cities right across Canada, believing it is good business to have such an influential party visit their locality."

LONG-RANGE BENEFIT
"Apart from the immediate monetary benefit derived from such a large number of people visiting the city for five days, it is possible that considerable financial benefits of a permanent nature may later accrue."

He added it is not generally known local business firms and individuals have already committed themselves to the extent of $14,000 in the matter of entertaining these visitors, "... and showing them what we have in this area."

Ald. Curtis added, "For many years a grant of $2,000 has been turned over annually to the Chamber of Commerce by the city, but was discontinued this year and in addition the newly-imposed business tax will result in business interests paying into the city offers an extra $160,000 beyond the amount previously collected through trade licences."

The grant question is expected to be re-opened by Ald. Ramsay at a city council meeting Thursday.

Workmen plowed trenches to tap a water main flowing toward Fyde Street—already shaken by a crater 30 feet square and 25 feet deep which wrecked 24 houses and forced evacuation of 118 others.

Cracks in the ground spread out like an octopus, undermining the centre of the densely-populated residential district in this town of 26,000.

The cave-in, first discovered Thursday morning, was blamed on the collapse of a water main running under the street.

There are indications, some officials said, that veins of a long-abandoned coal mine had weakened the earth's surface.

alive through continual moral intervention.

Thirty-five other countries joined the U.S. and Britain in sponsoring the new condemnatory resolution, which contained a further clause calling for a UN representative to carry on the assembly's efforts to aid the Hungarian people.

Nominated for this task was Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, president of the outgoing assembly and a diplomat who is personally popular with both the Soviet and Western groups. In addition, he is identified with the powerful Asian-African voting bloc which is growing in influence in the one-country one-vote assembly.

The only negative votes were cast by the nine Soviet-bloc countries and Yugoslavia.

The Arab countries were divided. Syria, which has given indications of moving closer to the Communist camp, abstained. Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan, Tunisia, Morocco, Libya and the Sudan voted in favor.

Even Burma and Iran, which had proposed amendments to tone down the wording of the resolution, cast their votes in favor of the original draft.

Canada joined in co-sponsoring the resolution, spoke during the debate in favor of it, and cast an affirmative vote.

said. At one school 18 per cent of the students were reported ill. Children are main victims, but recover easily.

Ottawa medical health officer Dr. R. A. Kennedy said the flu is striking all sections of the city.

"Trouble with this bug is a person can't do much to avoid catching it," Patients are advised to remain in bed.

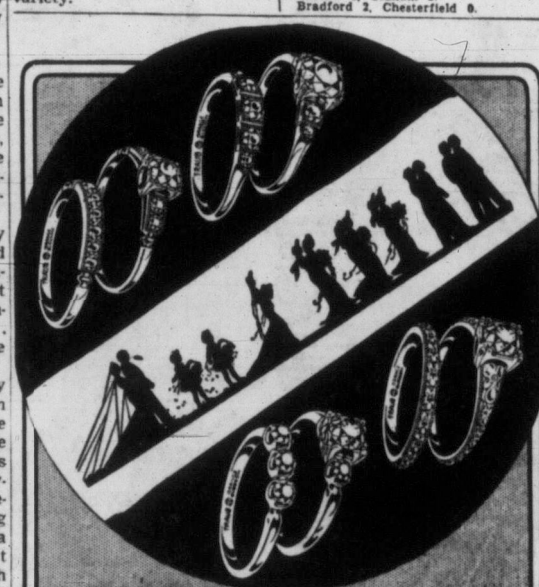

A "mystery" influenza has hit 4,000 persons in Sudbury and Capreol, Ont. King Township near Toronto is affected, so is Sault Ste. Marie and Timmins, also in Ontario.

A news wire report from London, England, says flu has struck among 65,000 sailors aboard 78 British and U.S. warships assembling in the Clyde for NATO exercises next week. One submarine depot is quarantined.

Another 150 cases are reported at Farnham, the RN's largest shore base, and 500 are ill at Shotley naval training school.

Flu has kept 12,000 students home in the northern industrial city of Bradford and more are stricken at Preston and Litheridge.

British doctors said most cases reported are listed as suspected Asiatic flu, but symptoms are generally the same, aches and pains and sudden fever as in the "old-fashioned" variety.

had, of course, another purpose in announcing this test at this time: to impress the neutral countries on the eve of the United Nations Assembly with the awesome might of a Russia, which possessed the most advanced and deadly weapons. Moscow always like to make important diplomatic leads from some sensational indication of new military power.

That brings me to the second factor in the Soviet decision to break off the London talks and to reject with something like contempt the latest western package disarmament scheme.

Preoccupied, as always, with the political and propaganda character of those talks, they realize the advantages in transferring them to the larger and public forum of the United Nations Assembly where they can appeal to Asian, Arab and African audiences. They have always shown a greater appreciation of the importance of this platform than we have.

We have at last, however, acquired a strong disarmament position, in advance of previous positions, and which should be acceptable to all free states. Let's stand firmly on that position as the maximum first-stage contribution to disarmament we can now make.

As for the future, I suggest that this question be tackled in a different way: through a three way approach.

These proposals do indeed present a strong Western position. They should have been formulated and submitted long ago. It is unfortunate that the necessity for resolving domestic differences within governments, especially in Washington, and the tendency to manoeuvre and bargain prevented this from happening. We can't beat the Russians by shifting our position periodically in their direction.

So the debate on disarmament will loom large at next week's Assembly. It is to be hoped that the four Western delegations to the London sub-committee—and this includes the Canadian—will take the initiative, and hold it in this debate; emphasizing the far-reaching character of the disarmament proposals they have now made and which were rejected with such scant consideration by the Soviet Government as having "nothing of value in them."

We can't beat the Russians by shifting our position periodically in their direction.

So the debate on disarmament will loom large at next week's Assembly. It is to be hoped that the four Western delegations to the London sub-committee—and this includes the Canadian—will take the initiative, and hold it in this debate; emphasizing the far-reaching character of the disarmament proposals they have now made and which were rejected with such scant consideration by the Soviet Government as having "nothing of value in them."

These proposals do indeed present a strong Western position. They should have been formulated and submitted long ago. It is unfortunate that the necessity for resolving domestic differences within governments, especially in Washington, and the tendency to manoeuvre and bargain prevented this from happening. We can't beat the Russians by shifting our position periodically in their direction.

Little-Known Professor Stirs Legal Controversy

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The man who blazed into the political limelight this week with an unexpected attack on Canada's present judicial system is a shy, retiring professor of history and economics at the Canadian Tri-Services College at Royal Roads.

The sudden publicity came as something of a shock to 52-year-old Prof. Charles Burchill, for it was the first time during his eight years' residence here that he had become a figure of public controversy.

A considerable section of the public had never heard of him before. But those who know him say he would be the last to express opinions for political reasons or with the idea of seeking publicity.

The furor started when the tall, quiet-spoken professor, in a talk to Victoria Rotary Club, urged the establishment of federal district courts to step in when provincial attorneys-general refuse to lay criminal charges for political reasons.

He also attacked the B.C. government's handling of the Somers case and the Vancouver police probe and claimed that the present judicial system allows political friends of provincial governments to escape punishment while political enemies suffer "the full severity of the law."

Friends and colleagues regard Prof. Burchill as a serious student of political economy and history who has "no axe to grind" but is seriously alarmed by the dwindling authority of Canada's federal government in the realm of law and justice.

He has written several articles for university journals on political history, advocating a better balance of power between provincial and federal governments.

He would like to see a return to conditions existing towards the close of the last century when the federal government had more authority in the enforcement of law throughout Canada.

A sincere democrat, he has repeatedly urged that no government, either provincial or federal, should have too much power.

One of the professor's main interests is improving social conditions among B.C. Indians and assisting their integration into Canadian life.

MONTREAL (CP)—An angry mob of 200 swarmed over a copper-laden river schooner here Friday night, attacking the crew and smashing whatever they could during a 20-minute demonstration in support of strikers at the Gaspe Copper Mine in Murdochville, Que.

WHAT'S YOUR OPINION?

By DINAH KERR and IRVING STRICKLAND

Question: "What do you think is the answer to the segregation problem in Arkansas?"

Mrs. William Pollard, 201 Crease: "It's a long-term proposition and I don't think there is any quick answer to it. In the long run, integration is the only answer, of course. All the whites and people of any other race have to do, is to get to know each other better."

Pollard

Mrs. Laura Gosse, 646 Cornwall: "It's hard to say. I feel very sorry for the Negroes and their children but they must keep persisting until they are accepted into the schools and on an equal basis with the white people. After all, we are all God's children—black or white."

Gerald Stewart, electrician, 911 Claremont: "I think the problem will pass with this generation. But the school children of today must be educated in a different way than they are now. They must be taught to accept people of a different color and religion."

Stewart

Richard Hall, CNR fireman, 3328 Tennyson: "Integration is the answer. The governor of Arkansas is foolish to try to stop something that is going to be brought about sooner or later, anyway."

Hazel Rankin, 1438 Fort: "They should kick out the governor and elect someone who would promote integration. The Negro children definitely should be allowed to mix with white children in the schools."

Rankin

W. Davies, 1032 Balmoral: "I don't know. I think the whole situation is a darn shame. As long as the Negroes are living the American way they should be given American privileges. The president should enforce the laws of integration."

Community Centre Meeting on Tuesday

CHEMUNUS — Annual general meeting of the Community Centre will be held in the centre reading room Tuesday at 7.30 p.m.

A detailed financial statement and a report on the year's activities will be presented. Business will include the election of several directors to the board.

When police arrived at the scene they found the rioters had smashed radar and telephone equipment on the bridge, overturned lifeboats, poured paint in the engines, threw the chief engineer in the river and dumped about three tons of copper plate overboard. Glass in the wheelhouse was broken.

MADE BY SCABS

Capt. Roland Desgagnier said he could make no immediate estimate of the damage to his ship.

He expected it would take at least a week to complete repairs. Arrangements were being made to unload 350 tons of copper plate.

The ship, the Mont Royal, carried a crew of six—none a union member.

Capt. Desgagnier said that when the ship was loading at Mont Louis, Que., not far from the strike-troubled Murdochville mine, a man had come aboard and "warned me that there would be trouble."

"I told the police there and they put a guard on while we were loading," he said. "They said there would be no trouble in Montreal."

The attack on the ship occurred at 7.30 p.m. as the ship tied up near a shed along the Lachine Canal.

Capt. Desgagnier said five cars drove around the shed followed by a shouting mob on foot. They included several women.

About 20 men jumped out of cars waving banners: "This copper is made by scabs," and "Gaspe copper is bloody copper."

BARS WAVED

Three men ran along the dock waving iron bars and wooden planks and shouting "Scabs, scabs, company boat."

As soon as the ship was tied up, men swarmed aboard. A deck hand drew a knife and the mob knocked him down and swarmed up to the bridge.

Four men pulled the captain down the gangway and carried him to the galley.

Others smashed the windows of the bridge, the steering gear, the radar and the telephone.

A second ship, the d'Auteuil II, was to arrive in Montreal later today with a load of copper. Police said special precautions would be taken to protect it.

The attack on the 140-ton Mont Royal was another in a series of violent episodes that have marked the six-month strike at Murdochville but it was the first clash outside the Gaspe Peninsula.

Krupp Visit To Canada Irks British Paper

LONDON (CP)—The Manchester Guardian comments a little sadly upon the forthcoming visit to Canada of Germany's Alfred Krupp.

The paper says in an editorial that Krupp's purpose is to decide whether to invest some of his vast wealth in the iron ore fields near Ungava Bay.

"He knows as well as anyone," says the editorial, "that if the steel industries of Europe are to continue at their present rate they will need greatly increased imports of iron ore, and doubtless he would prefer to invest in a country like Canada, which may be considered politically a better risk than others in North and West Africa."

"This latter point is important, for the capital outlay at Ungava must be enormous, rivaling the £80,000,000 spent on the Knob Lake scheme before production began."

Premier Bennett relinquished a very valuable addition to the government. His background makes him well qualified for the job.

The premier added that the appointment of a new speaker in the B.C. legislature will be considered "soon." The office has been vacant since Tom Irwin, former Social Credit MLA for Delta, left to contest and win the federal riding of Burnaby-Richmond in the June 10 federal election.

Mr. Steacy, 61, a retired North Vancouver business executive, told reporters the appointment came as a surprise to him. He said he was called to Victoria Thursday morning and told of his new job. Premier Bennett then took him to lunch.

Turks Reverse Russ Accusation

ISTANBUL, Turkey (Reuters)—Turkish Foreign Ministry circles today accused Russia of trying to "show Turkey falsely as an aggressor to conceal their own real aggressive activities."

Commenting on a message from Russian Prime Minister Bulganin to Turkey alleging Turkish military concentrations on the Syrian frontier, the sources said the Russian charge was propaganda.

Bulganin, in a letter to Premier Menderes, repeated previous Soviet warnings that an attack on Syria could lead to world conflict.

In Istanbul, meanwhile, two Soviet embassy attaches have been arrested on suspicion of spying. The newspaper said Turkish political police identified them as Aleksander Mikhailovich Marlagin and Mikhail Lischin, deputy naval attaches at the Soviet Embassy in Ankara.

Most seriously injured was Irvin Powers, about 22, in hospital in serious condition with a fractured spine and possible internal injuries.

The others, in fair or fairly good condition, are: Loug Stouffer, 27, multiple lacerations; Robert George Kerr, 60, possible fractured skull; Calvin Gerry, 24, abrasions, and Christopher Anderson, 38, lacerations.

Carl Sims of Winnipeg was released from hospital after treatment. He was the only one of the victims not from Brandon.

The explosion, the cause of which was not known, came while the men were in the caulk of the three-storey brick building. The stack crashed into the building, leaving rubble and clouds of dust.

Rescuers worked in tangled wreckage up to their hips to free the men. They received some directions from Powers, who remained conscious.

Stemming the Flood

IN THE FLOURISHING WORLD economy the apparently prosperous nation of France has long been a soft spot. Having lived far beyond its means, France recently confronted a grave crisis but found in M. Felix Gaillard, the minister of finance, a man strong enough to deal with it. When he threatened to resign if his policies of retrenchment were not enforced, the cabinet surrendered and adopted drastic measures.

Their first purpose is to reduce France's imports because France cannot pay for them, in their present volume, with its exports. Accordingly, harsh taxes have been placed on many non-essential foreign goods.

The result is an actual devaluation of the franc since it will now buy 20 per cent less in the world market than it would buy a few days ago.

This means—as it would mean in Canada if our dollar were devalued—that the French people must pay more for imports or use less of them. Less of them certainly will be used.

All nations that export to France, including Canada, will sell less goods there but the new barriers will apply equally to all sellers. While the total effect may be important in France, as the Government hopes, it should not be large on Canadian trade. It indicates, though, how the inflationary distortions of any great nation's economy ramify through the economy of the world, damaging everybody.

The second purpose of M. Gaillard's program is to cut the cost of French government. Spending has been suddenly curtailed by about $1.7 billions to reduce the state's demand for goods, one of the primary sources of inflation in France as everywhere.

It remains to be seen whether higher taxes and less spending will stem the recent flight from the franc and the drop in the nation's gold reserves. There can be no doubt, however, that M. Gaillard has rightly diagnosed France's economic ailment.

It has been trying to do too much too quickly—to increase its living standards, expand its industrial plant and fight a costly war in Africa simultaneously.

For all these purposes there is just not enough manpower, machinery and materials in France. Unlike Canada, France could not turn to a rich neighbor and borrow huge quantities of foreign capital. But perhaps France can withdraw some of its deposits from the International Monetary Fund, which exists to help members in exchange trouble, and it may be able to negotiate foreign loans.

All these measures must be temporary, to tide the nation over a crisis. The fundamental problem in France, as in many other countries, is to hold down consumption to the level of supply or, better, to raise production rapidly.

In fact, French production has been rising with extraordinary speed since the last war, thanks very largely to the industrial improvements financed by the Marshall Plan but it has not risen as rapidly as the public's appetite for goods and the state's huge demands on available supplies.

The consequence has been, first, inflation and then the present attempt to effect an orderly deflation, the alternative being, of course, a disorderly deflation.

Happily most of the great nations are not in France's acute position but it carries a warning to all of them, for all are suffering from inflation and many are trying to do more and consume more than their means allow.

New External Affairs Minister

THE SWEARING-IN OF DR. Sidney Smith of Toronto as Canada's new foreign affairs minister must be regarded as a personal triumph for Prime Minister Diefenbaker. It is not often in politics that a leader is able to enlist the support, and the talents, of a man frequently named as his main opponent for the top position in the nation.

For more than 20 years Dr. Smith's name has figured prominently in Conservative plans for regeneration. Hitherto, he had resisted all political demands. Today he apparently sees an opportunity for service which is irresistible, even in a subordinate role.

The question of whether or not Dr. Smith will prove a success in the vital foreign affairs portfolio must be approached with an open mind. To those who express doubts that an academician is suited, mentally and physically, for the crucial demands of international power politics, it should be pointed out that there is ample precedent.

"Mike" Pearson, too, was a professor; and his keen intellect, coupled with a happy talent for phrase-making (which Dr. Smith also possesses in abundant measure) enabled him to fill the office with remarkable distinction.

Dr. Smith is a Canadian of good name and splendid record of service. There is every reason to hope that he will justify the Prime Minister's confidence, and add lustre to Canada's solid reputation in international affairs.

Now for the Mann Cup

VICTORIA'S SHAMROCKS HAVE defeated the Mann Cup holders, have won the Western Canadian lacrosse championship and have focused the attention of a large section of the sporting world on this city for the national finals starting next week.

This is a series of accomplishments for which all Victorians should give the athletes praise. A fine organization of players has been welded once more into a club with every hope of again winning the game's highest laurel, the Mann Cup.

As they enter the play-offs, the good wishes of the citizens go out to them. Well done, Shamrocks, and keep up the good work.

The 'Hood' Look

PARDON US IF WE SOUND snobbish, but we are politely applauding a fashion note from the United States.

The report says that teen-age youths are turning up at school better dressed than in recent years. "This new, neat, trim look undoubtedly will prove a strong influence for the better in deportment, attitude, responsibility and scholarship of the students," it continues, quoting educationists on that score. It may be untrue that clothes make the man. It cannot be denied that the clothing of some teen-agers hereabouts in recent years has given them the appearance of young "hoods." They may not have been "hoods," but they did their best to look like them to conform to fashion. Happily, fashion has changed.

Now, if we can have a cheering report from the barbers...

As Our Readers See It

'Chew, Chew Chew'

It is a good thing that some of the Times regular columnists express views such as Dinah Kerr in the Sept. 11 Times, while quoting from Josephine Lowman: "chew your food slowly."

Now and then I have had some correspondence about this subject with Mrs. Lowman. If people in general would do this, instead of gulping their food (and drink) down, the saliva would prepare their food, through a chemical change, for the other digestive organs.

As I have said many times, I myself got rid of a lifelong constipation and resultant eighteen year sciatica, just by learning to chew properly; and the last 23 years I did that chewing without teeth, just with my gums. Try it and you will reap the benefit! Co-operate with nature.

Transportation

Sometimes I wonder about the Victoria City council members.

They have advised the residents of Rockland Ave., between Vancouver and Cook, who have complained about the all day parking, to wait for rain, as if a little water could wash away a serious problem.

Cannot they realize that there are a great number of people in this city, who for one reason or another are forced to use their cars in travelling to and from work? These people have to park somewhere, and if they are prohibited from parking in some of the outlying business streets, which they are, they are forced to move out into the residential areas.

Far from solving the problem, the prohibition of all day parking has only shifted it from one street to the next.

I see that the two hour parking limit on a great number of streets was recommended by the Public Utilities Commission. It makes things fairly obvious. Perhaps if the B.C. Electric was to provide a decent schedule in the outlying areas, where many of the all day parkers live, they might encourage more bus riding. Myself, living in the several square miles of Gordon Head, where we have about one bus an hour (during rush hours), I have my choice of arriving at work either five minutes late, or fifty-five minutes early. Naturally I drive a car to work, even though this costs me considerably more than riding the buses.

'Improvements'

I was interested in your picture of the Willows Beach "improvements" as visualized by what must be a commission most unusually gifted in turning your city beaches into metropolitan eyesores.

Is nothing to be left of Victoria that was once natural and beautiful by these predatory engineers of destruction who ceaselessly hew and saw and bulldoze whatever they can lay their hands upon? Do these expert town planners honestly believe that a beach can be improved by the installation of a curbstone and the letting of a road contract for hard surfacing its perimeter?

For the home owners here I feel sorry. Nights whose silence would have been broken only by the sound of the sea will now resound to automobiles with high fins and dual exhausts, parking through the night and leaving the usual flotam of broken beer bottles upon their departure.

Presumably we have the automobile to thank for all this. Here in Banff National Park we now have "wayside tables"—mute monuments to the present day generation of dunderheads who must be able to drive every inch of the way and who are afraid to wet their backsides in some damp grass once in awhile.

This is my salute to this Capital Improvement—which, like all Government agencies once formed, will go on forever and ever—amen.

NICHOLAS MORANT.

All-Out Support

(Toronto Telegram)

TO the long list of Canadian medical, dental and public health authorities, as well as those of other nations, who have endorsed fluoridation of the water supply as a beneficial and safe method of preventing tooth decay, the World Health Organization of the United Nations now adds its name.

An expert committee of WHO has studied water fluoridation in 17 countries. Results in all of them, the committee found, showed a reduction of 60 per cent in dental decay in the permanent teeth of children. In children's primary (milk) teeth the decrease ranged from 50 to 60 per cent.

Children who had had the benefit of fluoridated water had well-formed teeth which, the committee found, were more resistant to dental decay than the teeth of children who had not had fluoridated water.

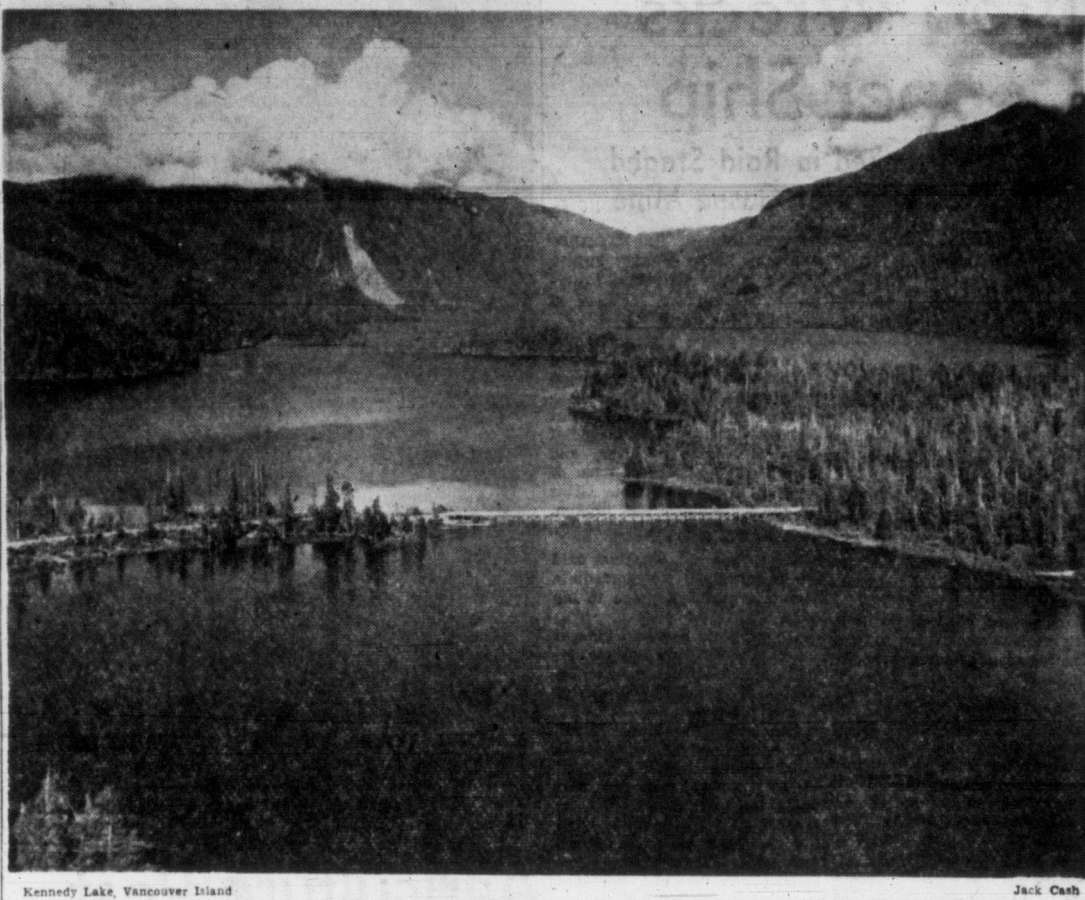

The World Health Organization recommended, without any qualification whatsoever, that drinking water be fluoridated whenever and wherever possible.

In his case it is rarely strong drink. Coffee is more in his line; possibly because it helps to keep him awake. But the restaurateur or hotel-keeper who is not accustomed to these things, and sees two chess players descending upon him, commanding one of his tables, and setting up their pieces while they order two cups of coffee, must groan as if he were about to go through torture.

The old Chinese agony of death by a thousand cuts is nothing compared with that of mate in a hundred moves. Recently in the Alpes-Maritimes an even greater affliction befell the inn-keeper. When at the end of four hours the game was still not finished and holiday-makers were waiting for tables he could contain himself no longer.

"Be off with you," he cried. And excusing himself to high heaven, he added: "It is not as if they had had a drink each. They ordered only one coffee."

The Modern Miracle of Jasna Gora

PROPERLY speaking, the miracle of Jasna Gora, the great monastery of "The Bright Mountain," took place 301 years ago. On that occasion, the monks and a few score of Polish men-at-arms held and hurled back 10,000 Swedish troops who besieged the monastery's bastioned walls through a long, bitter winter month. The victory was credited to Jasna Gora's precious virgin-image, long ago chance-brought out of late Byzantium into these wild Polish marches.

Alsop

I do not think there was any higher intervention; but I too witnessed a miracle at Jasna Gora just the other day. It was not easy to define, being the peculiar combination of a theme, a ceremony, a crowd and a man. Yet it seemed to me decidedly miraculous.

Imagine, then, a high hill swelling upwards from the suburbs of a dreary little industrial town. A broad way leads through trees to the hill's summit. And here there is the beginning of the miracle.

The summit has been levelled, to make a gigantic plaza three times larger than the great plaza of St. Peter's. Only a single column bearing Christ with His thorny crown interrupts this vast, flat expanse. And the full expanse is filled, as though by a fantastic human inundation, by a single continuous sea of people.

Silent Patience

There they stand in silent patience, men and women, young people and children, literally hundreds of thousands of them. And all gaze toward the towering church, rising in a surge of baroque pinnacles from the same tall bastions that the monks held against the Swedes.

Suddenly, along the battlements, the long procession of the Eucharist winds its way, banner after banner, choir after choir. A monk stationed by the high temporary altar, erected on the church-front, gives a signal through a loud-speaker. The crowd bursts, full-throated, into the hymn recounting Jasna Gora's miracle, "On the Heights of Czestochowa."

For a long hour the people stand, singing hymn after hymn and watching the platform round the altar gradually fill with the churchmen of the procession.

Last come the Bishops of Poland, splendid in their vestments and rich mitres. Alas, a closer view reveals chasubles sadly confected of old lace curtains and capes made of the shoddy silk of Communist Peking. The Church in Poland today is not rich in this world's goods.

Suddenly there is a hush. Stefan, Cardinal Wyszynski, quietly takes his place under the scarlet canopy that stands by the altar's side. The wise eyes in the pale, ascetic face briefly survey the scene. Music breaks the silence and Baranjak, Archbishop of Poznan—that place name heavy with memories—begins the celebration of the mass.

The crowd joins the responses as though this were a single Paris church holding hundreds instead of hundreds of thousands; and after consecration of the host the whole multitude sinks to its knees.

Repeats Oath

When the mass is ended, the Cardinal enters the pulpit and again there is a moment of silence while he stands, vividly outlined against the white draperies, a commanding figure in brilliant scarlet.

Then he speaks, telling the story of Poland's dedication to the Virgin Mary by King Jan Kazimierz, and saying that this is a time to renew the dedication with an oath. And slowly, in a strong masculine voice, he repeats the oath.

It is a curious oath, resembling a set of New Year's resolutions on a national scale. One catches echoes of certain exhortations to the people by Poland's Communist government in Warsaw—exhortations against the absenteeism that afflicts industry, the alcoholism that is a curse in this country, the disorderliness and lack of discipline that have appeared here since freedom returned.

But whether or no the crowd also catches these echoes, all follow the Cardinal when he asks them to repeat after him:

"We swear to thee, Mary, Queen of Poland, we swear to thee!"

Then the slender hand is raised in blessing. At a signal, with a passion that fills the hilltop air, the whole multitude breaks into Poland's battle hymn, "Great God Through Ages Protector of this Polish Land."

And so the morning comes to an end; and the sea of people flows away again, to picnic in the sunshine and queue up by thousands to say their prayers before Jasna Gora's Virgin image.

But in the dusk, when the enormous bulk of the fortress monastery shows black against the evening sky, the sea of people flows back into the plaza, more numerous than ever. Here and there candles shielded by workworn hands make points of winking light.

Cardinal Preaches

Once again the old hymns sound out while the procession winds along the battlements. Once again, when the service begins, all these hundreds of thousands join together in chanting the litany to the Virgin. And this time, the Cardinal himself preaches to his people.

The sermon is not unlike the morning oath, pressing the government a little on such contentious points as the difficult situation of Poland's Catholic press, but above all exhorting the people to be good citizens, even exhorting the miners to bring up more coal.

"You must understand," the Cardinal tells the listening thousands, "that what could not be destroyed by erroneous political doctrine can still be ruined by national demoralization. You are a generation of heroes, and to you God has given a serious duty—not to lose what was saved by the blood of your fathers."

So the sermon ends. Once more, with the same strange, resonant passion, the whole multitude sings Poland's battle hymn. And then all is over and it is time to journey homeward through the night. Such was this modern miracle of Jasna Gora.

If you think about it, it says a good deal about this new Poland whose two leaders, linked in unlikely partnership, are the brave veteran Communist, Wladyslaw Gomulka, and the brave Prince of the Church, Stefan, Cardinal Wyszynski.

WHEN WE WERE VERY YOUNG

By GUS SIVERTZ

First and Last View From the Crow's-Nest

SEPTEMBER is probably the most wonderful month of the whole year and when you are very young it is such a nice quiet month for doing useless and interesting things. Things like sitting on the old Rither Outer Wharves and fishing for bullheads—or, maybe, a small devil fish.

The beauty of this kind of fishing off the old docks, long before the Ogden Point docks and breakwater were built) was that in all probability several big ships would be lying on berth at the old wooden wharves.

Perhaps the Makura had just come in from far-off Australia and New Zealand, or the sleek Ruth Alexander was flying the Blue Peter to show she was out-bound for San Francisco. Certainly the old cable ship Restorer would be tied up—a "sleeper" but ready for immediate call if the trans-Pacific cable should snap.

Popular Resort

Not far away was the famed old Dalas Hotel with its full-verandahed front looking right smack across the Strait of Juan de Fuca to the snow-capped peaks of the Olympic mountain range. Many of the folk who came from Down Under stayed at this fine hostelry and its two-horse hotel cab met all boats, including the Canadian Pacific ships at the inner harbor.

Only a couple of blocks from the docks was Brackman-Ker's big milling plant where they turned out the rolled oats that looked so uninteresting on our breakfast tables every morning, but no doubt were packed with nutriment.

Best place in the Outer Wharf area was M. R. Smith's biscuit factory and it was a poor day when a hungry-looking boy couldn't get a paper bag of broken cookies including a few with colored candy tops. Mr. Smith was a very kindly man but I don't think he was a very good business man and he lost out to more progressive methods of other manufacturers of biscuits.

One day a couple of us from Spring Ridge were fooling around the docks when we spotted a great windship at anchor in the Royal Roads just a short distance off Macaulay Point. This sight was too great a temptation to resist and in some way, now forgotten, we made our way to a little cove of sandy beach below Lampson Street.

Thing of Beauty

Here a friend took us by rowboat out to the ship. And what a thing of beauty she was. She was a full-rigged ship of four masts, a long, slim, steel hull and her holy-stoned deck planks—probably of teakwood—were as clean as a hospital operating room.

She was the Olive Bank, a trading ship of the Cunard Line, on which apprentices were given their actual sea training under the sharp eyes of old shellbacks.

Strangely enough we were made welcome aboard this glorious ship and as we came over the hullwarks from her Jacob's ladder a quartermaster offered to show us the ship. Our eyes bugged out at her sheer beauty—at her towering masts and long spar-varnished yards and her spotless cleanliness.

How we envied the supercilious young apprentices who were housed amidships (not in any noisome forecastle) in beautiful steel deck houses. Each had his own tiny living space and a huge sea chest in which he stowed his personal gear and a neatly rolled up hammock was his bed. We could see in our mind's eyes how the hammocks would sway with the heave and roll of the great ship as it ploughed through the seas.

This was how the Cunard Line started off its youngsters for careers as officers in the famous service—that had tucked away several blue ribbons for Atlantic speed crossings. No wonder that when they became deck officers or ships' commanders they were about the most efficient in the world.

Our guide looked aloft and asked me if I would like to go up the ratlines to the crow's-nest on the mainmast—I think it was the mainmast—and have a quiet look around. It was a challenge but appeared easy enough and so it proved as I swarmed upward to a little platform high above the ship.

What a sight opened out before and below me!

The green-blue sea showed tiny ridges of white that I knew to be the tops of white caps whipped up by a smart westerly coming in around Race Rocks. The city was laid out before me as though before the eyes of a conqueror and directly below—when I dared look straight down—was the slim hull of the ship.

Into Space

Now I would look over the starboard rail and in a long moment peer down at the port-bulwark. The ship seemed a tiny thing below me.

But everything was fine so long as I stayed aloft. The trouble began when I started to descend and with feet reaching out into space felt for the shrouds beneath me. It was a giddy experience but slowly I crept down until my feet trod on the firm, solid deck.

I don't think I could have gone aloft again that day but I trudged home walking on air and looked away in my breast was another unforgettable boyhood experience—to have stood high up on the mast of one of the last of the great windships of the world.

Checkmate on Only One Cup of Coffee

From The Times (London)

SAD is the news from Birmingham, where the brewers, no longer able to afford the upkeep of those masterpieces of exasperation, the crowd-bowling greens, are turning them into public houses. It is to be hoped the movement will not spread still farther north. Neither Lancashire nor Yorkshire would be the same without its bowling green behind the suburban public house.

There may not be so many money matches on Saturday afternoons between the local champions as there used to be in the old days, but the great game of bowls has long flourished there with all the sternness and implacability with which the North invests its pastimes.

The thought that it might be this very concentration which had caused the game to be unremunerative to the publicans has been discounted. Most of the players, we are told, seem to be "very thirsty people."

And while a steady hand and a clear eye are necessary in a game of such precision, anyone who has seen a bowls match in progress—or even more so an exhibition of that astonishing variation of the game they play with metal bowls in the south of France—will know that the odd glass of beer is more than an encouragement to the masters to show their virtuosity.

But if the amount drunk by bowlers would still be remunerative to the publicans, were it not for the high cost of green keeping, there is another game in which the contestants are more often than not a liability to mine host.

No doubt chess cafes still abound; no doubt the more favoured among them have so geared their arrangements (and their patience) that they can afford the huge amount of time and the little amount of drink that the average chess player seems to need.

In his case it is rarely strong drink. Coffee is more in his line; possibly because it helps to keep him awake. But the restaurateur or hotel-keeper who is not accustomed to these things, and sees two chess players descending upon him, commanding one of his tables, and setting up their pieces while they order two cups of coffee, must groan as if he were about to go through torture.

The old Chinese agony of death by a thousand cuts is nothing compared with that of mate in a hundred moves. Recently in the Alpes-Maritimes an even greater affliction befell the inn-keeper. When at the end of four hours the game was still not finished and holiday-makers were waiting for tables he could contain himself no longer.

"Be off with you," he cried. And excusing himself to high heaven, he added: "It is not as if they had had a drink each. They ordered only one coffee."

BOOK TALK

By JAMES SCOTT

Canadian Novelists Have Failed To Equal Australian Achievement

This week I have been reading a book by a writer I have missed up to now, an Australian called Patrick White. His latest book is called Voss, the surname of the main character in the long (422 pages) saga of the opening up of the down-under continent in the 19th century.

Voss is an historical novel and although I am not usually too receptive to this much-abused genre I came away from reading this book with two wistful regrets.

First, I am sorry that I have not made Mr. White's acquaintance earlier (there are four previous novels, the best known of which is The Tree of Man), and second, I couldn't help but wish that this sister in the Commonwealth, our own Canada, had at least one writer of this kind who could stand favorable comparison with Patrick White.

Judged from non-fiction standards, Canada is a very historically-minded nation. Every year we publish a great spate of books about our history and the people who made it.

Most of our best-known writers are those who, in non-fiction form, find their material in the past.

Even in terms of fiction, it is evident that we have a strong interest in history. The historical novel in Canada is one of the types most often tried—but here's the rub, rarely successfully.

The obvious conclusion which we can reach, then, is that our writers of fiction, while they may be engrossed by our history, are not equally enthralled by the challenge of good craftsmanship and the high art which must go into the making of a really good novel. No matter how beguiling the material may be, it cannot stand up in the open market unless it is skillfully and artistically handled.

A CHALLENGE

If anybody thinks I am taking an unfair round out of the local favorites, I would suggest he read Voss and then ask himself if he has ever read Canadian historical themes handled with the finesse which Mr. White brings to his Australian material.

And we cannot duck out using the threadbare excuse that we are still a young country and that it takes high creative art longer to mature than most of the other domestic skills. Australia is not a whit older than Canada in terms of civilized settlement—indeed, a great deal younger if one does not restrict oneself to the English-speaking element—so I think that performances such as Mr. White's show up the futility of the old argument. It never was much good anyway.

TWO FACETS

To get back to the book itself, it is a well-turned narrative of a dramatic event—an expedition which is attempting to cross the uncharted wastes of a continent for the first time—combined with an account of domestic manners in a new country.

With great skill the author alternates between the adventures of the expedition and what is going on at home, that is in Sydney.

These sections require two very different types of literary skill and Mr. White is not lacking in either. Perhaps he is more at home in terms of the domestic, as opposed to the natural scene, but in both settings he concentrates on the people involved rather than on the background material.

It is from the subtleties of the mind, all the decisions, conflicts, irrationalities which make up human personality out of which he creates his real story which is the story of man's search for that satisfying balm which brings ease to his own restless ego.

This is history all right, and very stirring and life-like history, but it is more. This book realizes that the essential of great creative fiction is humanity itself—not humanity understood by tired platitudes, but humanity seen by eyes which are wise enough to know the truth.

Truly, a great book.

ISLANDS' LURE

Arthur Grimble's A Pattern of Islands has sold nearly 380,000 copies in Great Britain. This phenomenal and delightful book ended thus: "I borrowed £150 at the end of my leave to pay my way back to the Pacific and leave the family in funds until I arrived there. I did not see them again for seven years. But that is another story."

ART IN REVIEW

Everyone Supports Artists In Culture-Conscious Sweden

Last Saturday morning I was shopping in Sidney and called at the Mayfair Shop to see an exhibition of paintings by Baron John Knoop. Because he has travelled extensively, Baron Knoop knows how to pick out peculiarities characteristic of each land he visits.

Williamson

His paintings of Vancouver Island have an exactness of mood and color which can only give pleasure. He has selected those characteristics we like to see, and because these straight-forward landscapes have no extraneous distractions from their main purpose, which is to please, I am sure there will be many who will get great satisfaction from the Baron's work.

Three of the paintings on view were excellent. If there was an unevenness in quality in the exhibition as a whole, it could be dismissed as a minor fault common to all artists whose output is above average.

Baron Knoop has exhibited in the United States, in Canada and South Africa. A painting by him hangs in the Danish Royal Palace at Copenhagen.

He has also exhibited in Sweden and it is to Sweden that this week I wish to call your attention.

If one can get any artist to

Art and Barter

A businessman might pay an artist $50 for each painting produced with the proviso that should the artist sell the painting for a larger sum then the businessman gets his $50 refunded.

Finally, some Swedish stores have adopted the practice, once fairly common in France, of allowing an artist to trade his work for goods.

It is inevitable that once paintings are treated as currency or purchased on such a grandiose scale much inferior "art" will make an unwelcome appearance.

Against this, it must be appreciated that because many serious Swedish artists are guaranteed security from want and devote their energies to the improvement of their own arts and crafts, the long-term result can be nothing but beneficial.

Sweden officially endorses the belief that art is a necessity for the people. It is an example of liberal enlightenment which we must all admire.

'A Man I Respect ... a Town I Like'

MAN OVER MOUNTAIN by John Ehle. George J. McLeod Ltd., Toronto. 314 pages. $4.50.

John Ehle's story "Man Over Mountain" is a story mainly of one family in a small community in North Carolina where the poor negroes live. It is written as an entertaining novel, not as a crusade for or against segregation.

The author says his novel is the story "of a man I respect who lives in a town I like. I like all the people in the novel, white and Negro, except one, and he doesn't amount to anything."

of which the author gives a suspenseful throw-by-throw description.

He, his wife, family and friends are characters readers would like to come on again in another novel.—T. M.

Cellist Has Symphony Desk But No Roof Over His Head

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Out on a limb, but cheerful and optimistic about finding his way to terra firma, is Monsieur Gustave Lamberts, a family man with an engaging smile, a wife and two young daughters—and no English.

The musician, whose native soil is Liege, Belgium, brought his family to Victoria five days ago and looks forward to settling roots down in this new land.

If the transplant takes, this city will gain a pleasant, cultured family of citizens and the symphony orchestra, a first-class cellist.

In the meantime, Lamberts needs a little help toward getting established. Such as a job—any kind of a job where language doesn't matter. He smiles and nods as his interpreter tells him that Gustave is ready and most willing to do anything at all.

Mrs. Lamberts—Irène—chats happily in English which she learned at school, and already has a part-time job among helpful and kindly people. Only other immediate problem any present personnel but only a strengthening of the orchestra. Local 247 of the Musicians' Union have co-operated in allowing the newcomers full status within the orchestra.

Behind Gustave Lamberts is a history of excellent training in music, honors and diplomas, a professorship and much professional experience in symphonies, opera orchestras and chamber ensembles.

But in present-day Europe the strain of working long, long hours to gain a pittance for the family, coupled with a bleak outlook for the children, encouraged Mr. and Mrs. Lamberts to take the big gamble—to go out on the limb.

Such a decision must have taken courage. But such decisions and such courage means that we in Canada, year by year, are enriching our own native soil with the fine culture of an older land.

And as for Mr. Lamberts goes, a meeting with him, even though no word is spoken between you, leaves little room to doubt the eventual solid rooting of a welcome transplant.

BORIS GOLDOVSKY... humorous recitalist.

Scholarly Virtuoso To Open New Series

First of five feature events at the Royal Theatre during the fall and winter season, will be a unique piano recital by one of America's outstanding virtuosos and musical personalities, Boris Goldovsky.

Under management of Famous Artists, Vancouver, Goldovsky comes here on Wednesday, Oct. 16. He is well known to radio listeners as the humorous, scholarly master of ceremonies of the Metropolitan Opera News of the Air and is also a distinguished recitalist.

In addition to four other events, including Yehudi Menuhin, series ticket holders will also have the privilege of buying Royal Ballet tickets in advance of public sale and at a 10 per cent reduction on opening night at Vancouver's Orpheum Theatre.

The great ballet company will give five night and two matinee performances and will dance, among others, the Firebird, Petrouchka, Les Patineurs, Swan Lake and an excerpt from The Sleeping Beauty. Dates are Dec. 3 to Dec. 7.

A highlight of the Victoria season will be the appearance of Kovach and Rabovsky, Hungarian dancers, and their ensemble. An outstanding attraction in Vancouver last year, this will be their first Victoria performance.

A bass-baritone of ever-growing reputation on both sides of the Atlantic, Jan Rubes, and the delightful Little Gaelic Singers of County Derry (who incidentally both dance and play the fiddle as well), completes the local series.

Tickets for the entire season are now on sale at Kent's Ltd., 742 Fort Street.

First public performance scheduled this season by the Victoria Choral Society, will commemorate the 85th birthday year of the distinguished British composer, Ralph Vaughan Williams. It will also be a Canadian premiere performance of one of his latest works.

Graham Steed, Choral Society conductor, announces that a 50-minute composition, the Christmas cantata, "Hodie" (This Day), composed by Williams in 1954, will go into rehearsal, starting Tuesday evening at 7:30 at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

There are openings for new voices in all sections of the choir and it is emphasized that the society is entirely non-denominational.

Scoring of the work calls for three solo voices, soprano, tenor and baritone, a biblical type of narration by choir boys, and large symphony orchestra.

Presentation will take place at the fifth pair of Victoria Symphony Orchestra concerts, scheduled for Dec. 15 and 16 at the Royal Theatre.

Inspirational quality of the cantata arises in part from the texts from works by Milton, George Herbert, Thomas Hardy and several modern writers.

The newest Cinerama film, "Search for Paradise," will have its world premiere Sept. 24 at the Warner Theatre in New York. This is the fourth of the Cinerama process films, which started the big-screen revolution of the movies almost five years ago.

HANS GRUBER CONDUCTS

Orchestra's Rosy Situation 'Relative But Not Absolute'

Two articles appeared in the press this past week, both about symphony orchestras. Both were interesting to read, and even correct in part; both of them, however, either lead to or drew what I think to be incorrect conclusions.

The "rosiness" of the financial situation of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra is, as sun.

And the most generous possible contributions, on the part of more and more people, over and above the purchase of tickets, will continue to be a necessity if our orchestra in its present form is to continue to exist.

All this is not at all a denial of the fact that the financial position of this orchestra is showing an improvement, in that there are indications that interest in and support of the orchestra are beginning to come a little closer to our needs than at any time in the past.

In this we of the society and the orchestra take gratification. But, above all, are we more than aware that we must continue to earn this increasing interest and support by the

Thus, for the first time that I know of, we can begin this season without having to carry the burden of an accumulated loss from the previous season.

In addition, there exists a trust account of some consequence, provided by certain people as a "working capital." In effect, as a loan, in order that the society may be able to pay orchestra musicians regularly and on time, their, in any case, more than modest remuneration.

MORATORIUM
In the past the society has run out of ready cash almost as soon as the season got under way; with the result that a moratorium had to be declared on all salaries until some weeks or months after the conclusion of the season, when the guarantors assumed their share of at least a part of the deficit, and the musicians could be paid retroactively.

This working capital, however, must be replaced in the trust account each year, as it is, to repeat, in the nature of a loan.

Essentially, therefore, nothing has really changed as regards the financial needs of the Victoria Symphony Society; so long as we shall be expected to provide a series of orchestral concerts of at least an acceptable standard, with qualified soloists and programs of quality, a considerable deficit

On Your Toes, Canadian Ballet Circles Told.

WINNIPEG (CP)—The new director of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet is a New Yorker whose aim is "a Canadian company dancing for Canadian audiences."

Benjamin Harkavy was appointed after the company considered applications from England, New York, Minneapolis and Winnipeg. He will also be choreographer and ballet master during the 26-week season scheduled to start Nov. 11.

In an interview he said the emphasis will be on Canadian dancers and the company will have Canadian ballets whenever possible.

HIGH AND HIGHER
The Royal Winnipeg Ballet has a fine reputation, he said, "and we must do all we can to maintain and improve its already high standard."

Mr. Harkavy said "aside from teaching and coaching I would like to do as much choreography work as possible in the coming season and to encourage choreographers from all over the world to create for the Winnipeg group."

Canada is ripe for new and exciting ballet and it is up to the companies established here to do their utmost to maintain their high standards of work."

TWO for the SHOW

By PHIL LEE

AA (Oscar Class) A (Don's Miss) BB Worthwhile! B (For Rainy Days) C (To put in time)

(BB) "THE FUZZY PINK NIGHTGOWN" (Odeon) — If you're in exactly the correct shade of humor for unbelievable hanky-pank wherein a movie star is kidnapped on her way to the premiere of her latest effort and, thereafter, falls in love with one of her captors then "The Fuzzy Pink Nightgown" may be exactly your fit.

But for most patrons it will be a misfit.

For the second time in succession the Odeon had come up with extremely light fare. However, the first one, "Tammy and the Bachelor" was quite delightful because radiant Debby Reynolds was in it. But it's Jane Russell who wears the fuzzy nightgown in the second and on her, as the saying goes, it doesn't look so good.

Director Norman Taurog does his best with the spineless story but his heart isn't in his work. Even the principals, Jane Russell as the film star, Ralph Meeker and Keenan Wynn as the baddies can't seem to find much fun in it either. This results in the whole becoming draggy, bogged down by synthetic humor.

However, on the same bill, there is a short which most patrons will enjoy to the hilt, especially the more ancient customers whose memories go back to the early days of the talkies. Whole scenes are shown from films featuring Clark Gable, James Cagney, Edward G. Robinson, John Barrymore, Spencer Tracy, Bette Davis, and other famous names in their comparative youth.

Speaking personally: When will those responsible for the J. Arthur Rank newsreels wake up to the fact that they are doing business in Canada? The current one is completely taken up with English and Continental news. What about Canadian news, too. Yes, and American news, too.

2 Million Mark Seen For Record Players

By HUMPHRY DAVY

It is interesting to note that despite competition from TV and other forms of home entertainment, sale of phonographs and records continues to increase every year. Indication is that interest in music is mounting.

George Cooper, Columbia's sales manager for B.C., who visited Victoria this week, revealed that there are 1,800,000 phonographs in Canada today.

He believes the figure will top the 2,000,000 mark by the end of the year.

As for record sales, they have increased by about 40 per cent, he says.

What kind of records are people buying? George estimates that about 60 per cent are pops and 40 per cent classics.

In the last few years an increasing number of listeners have been buying in-between music, such as musicals and light opera. The most successful of these is "My Fair Lady." Over 3,000,000 records of this musical have been sold to date.

"But mind you," he told me, "the classics and more serious music are not lagging behind but increasing proportionately to the pops."

As for Columbia's fall program, George listed some outstanding records to be issued within the next few months.

To mention a few there will be music from Warner Bros.

POPS LIBRARY

Other choice LP's — "Patti Page" (Mercury). This is a collection of her best-known songs, including "I Went To Your Wedding"...

"Belafonte Sings of the Caribbean" (RCA-Victor), more of Harry's folk songs of the West Indies...

"Big Name Bands" (RCA-Camden), a selection of perennially popular numbers by Wayne King, Guy Lombardo, Vaughn Monroe, Freddy Martin and others...

"Great Hits on Dot," a dozen reissues of pop hits, among them Elnor Tanner's fabulous whistling of "Star Dust" and Joe Higgins' bouncy "I've Got a Right to Cry."

Best buy — "Audio Follies" (Cook). This is a sample of excerpts from 15 offbeat albums recorded by one of the country's most daring record companies.

Excerpts include wheezes of a circus calliope, the walls and chugging of a steam engine, a zither solo, Dixie jazz and a merry-go-round's strains.

Selected singles—"And That Reminds Me" by Della Reese (Jubilee), "My Personal Possession" by Nat King Cole (Capitol), "My Melancholy Baby" by Somethin' Slim and the Red Heads (Epic) and "Soft Sands" by Dorothy Collins (Coral).

Director is Mrs. Elizabeth Mayne. Production will not take place until early in the New Year.

ENDS TONIGHT '23 PACES TO BAKER STREET'

Lone Bandit Robs Vancouver Bank

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — Officials of the Toronto-Dominion Bank said a bandit escaped with more than $600 Friday after holding up the bank's Hastings and Burrard Streets branch.

The man, described as having one front tooth missing and two "twisted" teeth, was last seen walking along Hastings Street. It was Vancouver's 70th armed holdup of the year but the first bank holdup since July 26.

FOREST FIRE

OSOYOOS — A forest fire burning for 24 hours in the hills near here late Friday had covered 45 acres.

CUSTODY CASE ADJOURNED

NELSON — Hearing of a family court case concerning custody of 10-year-old Patsy Gieger, daughter of the late Mrs. Mary Gieger, who committed suicide some months earlier at Krestova, was adjourned Friday by Judge William Evans pending decision of supreme court on custody of all three Gieger children.

REZONING ORDERED

VANCOUVER — Downtown Vancouver was ordered rezoned Friday as city council's first step in putting a $30,000,000 development plan into action. The plan, which was presented some months ago by the technical planning board, calls for six types of zones which would form a "high density core" in the downtown area.

SENTENCE REDUCED

VANCOUVER — James P. McGowan, 27-year-old father of three small children, who was convicted of the armed holdup of a Chinese grocery last January, had his 14-year jail sentence reduced to 10 years in Appeal Court Friday. Mr. Justice Sidney Smith, said the appeal judges had been impressed by the fact that McGowan was a first offender, by his good background and by the fact that he had served five years in the Royal Navy.

Long Distance Dial Phones For Nanaimo

NANAIMO (CP) — This area will be the first B.C. Telephone Company district offering subscribers station-to-station long-distance dialing facilities, the company said Friday, with a system to go into operation in 1960.

General manager W. S. Pipes said the new equipment, which will become operative when Nanaimo goes onto dial operation, enables subscribers to dial calls to most areas in B.C. which have numbers with two letters and five figures. Most telephones will have such numbers by 1960.

He said subscribers in the communities of Ladysmith, Parksville, Chemainus and Qualicum will have the same facilities.

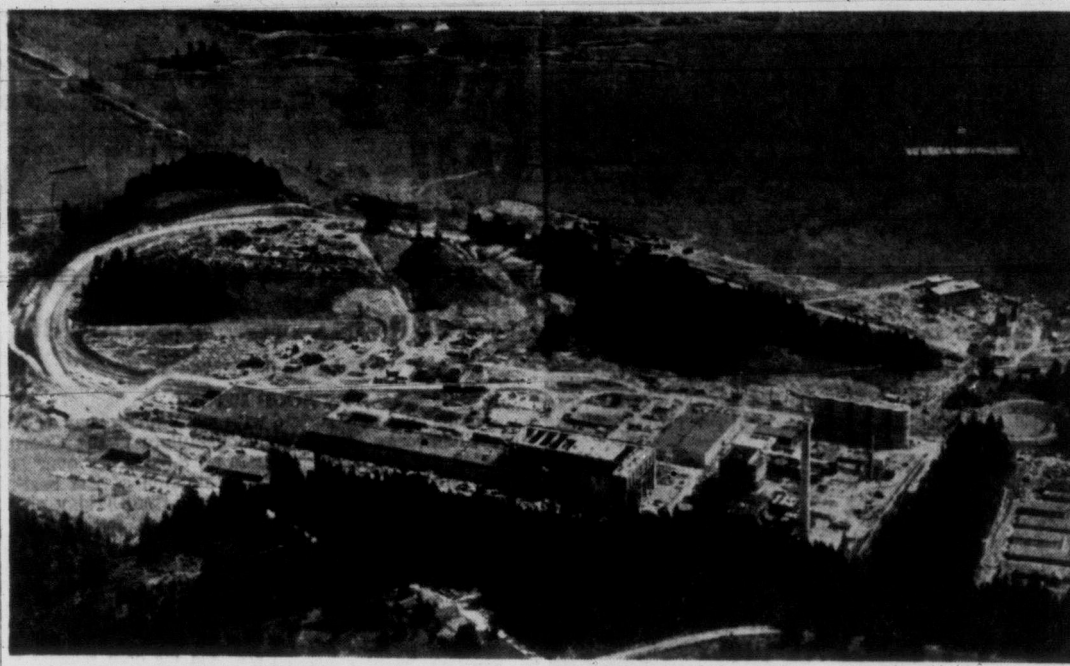

Except for brief interception by a Nanaimo operator who will ask the caller's name, the call will be handled by automatic electronic equipment which records date and time of the call on a perforated tape used later to draw up the bill, he said.

Driver Acquitted Of Grave Charge In Traffic Death

NANAIMO — Donald Van Pelt, charged in Assize Court here with criminal negligence arising out of a highway accident March 22, was acquitted Friday.

Van Pelt was the driver of a car that overturned on a curve about two miles south of Courtenay. In the subsequent crash Brian Morrison suffered fatal injuries, and was dead on arrival at St. Joseph Hospital in Comox.

The trial is scheduled to open Monday of Leland Miller, a former Victorian charged with the knife slaying of Dorothy Francis Duvvejonck at Courtenay last April. The killing occurred only shortly after the couple moved from Victoria.

Atom Planes Will Require Own Highways

QUALICUM BEACH — Divided airways, similar in practice to the lanes of modern highways, will become necessary when high-speed nuclear-propelled aircraft start operating, according to D. R. McLaren. Speaking to 130 delegates to the B.C. Aviation Council, Mr. McLaren, executive assistant of Trans-Canada Air Lines and one of Canada's most noted fliers, said nuclear aircraft will cause a complete revision of existing methods of flight planning.

Terminals must be redesigned, at least four east and four west lanes will be established, and regulations will be extended.

Discussion topics, scheduled for today were safety in the air, development and use of air-sea rescue facilities, air education, and the future of education in B.C.

Unknown Man Saves Lives With Warning

PORT ALBERNI — An unidentified taxi driver today was credited with saving the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Maksymiak and their seven-year-old son by warning them that their house was on fire.

At 2:30 a.m. Friday the driver saw flames coming from the roof of the Maksymiak home at 510 Compton Road East. He roused the family, then turned in a fire alarm.

Neighbors helped to remove some of the contents of the house. Roof and ceilings were destroyed before Alberni volunteer firemen could bring the blaze under control.

The house was insured for $8,000, and the contents for $5,000.

Arson Try Admitted By Brannan Lake Boy

NANAIMO — Pleading guilty in police court Friday to a charge of arson, a 14-year-old Vancouver boy admitted he had tried to burn down Brannan Lake School so he could return to his home.

He apologized in court, and was remanded for sentence.

The boy told Lionel Beevor-Potts, juvenile court judge, that he had set a fire last month in a storeroom by breaking a window and throwing a flaming comic book into a pile of mattresses.

He went back to check the fire and see that it was "going properly," he said, but dense smoke warned school officials. The fire was extinguished before serious damage was done.

Gabriola Well Yields Gas to Drill Crew

NANAIMO (CP) — Warning signs were posted around a well on Gabriola Island, near here, that was supposed to yield water but delivered gas along with it.

The signs were posted warning residents away from the area because of the inflammable nature of the so far unidentified gas.

Two workmen from the Pacific Well Diggers narrowly escaped injury when they tested the gas with a match and flames erupted around them.

The pair had difficulty putting out the fire and said that gas bubbling through the water in the well still ignited readily. Nanaimo Realty Company spokesman Frank Ney said the gas was struck at a depth of

13,000 Attend Nanaimo's Fair

NANAIMO — Annual fall fair at exhibition park swept into its last day today with judging of 4th Club exhibits and a record of two days of gratifying attendance behind it.

At least 7,000 entered the grounds on Thursday, and it is estimated 6,000 attended Friday. The latter crowd included 3,000 school children who were released from classes at noon in order to attend the fair.

Big event tonight will be the drawing by Mrs. Pete Maffeo, wife of Nanaimo's mayor, of a ticket on a $20,000 home on display at the fair.

J. L. Saville, Cobble Hill, dominated the Ayrshire section in the cattle show with 28 prizes, including nine firsts and nine seconds. Harry Dawson, Nanaimo, was a close contender with 21 prizes, including seven firsts.

Two Victorians, Ralph Rendle and Brian Hoole, led the Holstein and Jersey sections, respectively.

Judges in the cattle division were W. C. Blair, Langley, Holstein; W. H. Savage, Ladner, Jersey; William Adrain, Royal Oak, Ayrshire; Sig Petersen, Courtenay, beef cattle.

One of the leading exhibitors in the sheep division was A. C. Stewart of Abbotsford, who took all first prizes with his herd of Shropshires, and called accommodation at the fair "the best I've seen at any exhibition, including the PNE."

Other successful exhibitors were Mr. and Mrs. R. H. M. Shaw of Duncan, who showed Southdowns, and Hamish and Dorothy Sibbald of Cobble Hill with their grade stocks.

Judge of the sheep division, with 160 animals on display, was Don Beaton of Qualicum, well known breeder.

Rocks Win Western Crown; T-Men Protest Disallowed

Nanaimo 6, Victoria 8

By DOUG PEDEN

Memorial Arena rocked with a deafening roar as Victoria Shamrocks rushed to congratulate goalie Gordie Johnston for his leading role in an 8-6 victory over Nanaimo Timbermen in the seventh game of the best-of-seven western Canada senior lacrosse final Friday night.

But the arena was a hushed and gloomy place, with only a few of the capacity crowd of 5,422 fans still lingering after the doors, when the Rocks of Nanaimo, victoriously, finally won the Western title.

It was exactly four minutes to midnight that a special meeting of the Inter-City Lacrosse League commission announced that a Nanaimo protest had been disallowed and the Shamrocks would oppose Peterborough Timbermen in the Canadian final, opening Monday night at Memorial Arena.

The protest stemmed from a play in the final second of the third quarter, on which Victoria's Peeewe Bradshaw took a floor-length pass from coach Whitey Severson and drilled a shot behind goalie Fred Fulla to even the count at 5-5.

Although the horn, controlled by a timing device at the scorer's bench blew, the second hand of the clock above the arena floor had ticked slightly and six seconds.

No Easy Moments Against Timbermen

Then came the 20-minute special meeting, after which Gordon stated that since "the period was the same length of time the teams have been playing here all year, and since it was proved the horn had not gone when the goal was scored," the protest had been tossed out.

Shamrocks were a vastly different club from the one which asserted a 19-9 pasting as the Timbermen evened the series in the sixth game at Nanaimo Wednesday.

For the first time in the series, typical playoff lacrosse was on display as the Irish came out with a rush to hustle all the way and check the defending Mann Cup champions almost to a standstill.

They were full value for their win, but there were no easy moments against the battling of the Timbermen, who also turned in a great effort, and in the final analysis it could have been the Rocks' ability to control Jackie Northup was back to face-offs in the second half make it 2-0.

Patterson's Absence Helped Irish

Timberman went ahead with three second-period tallies before Severson, who had been missing his targets with his passes, found Al Davies at the side of the net 10 seconds from half time and the lanky defenceman made it 3-3 with his first goal of the series.

Patterson, assigned the task of bottling up Bradshaw, got his feet tangled while throwing a check at the chunky Irish forward and piled in to the boards early in the third period. Just after he had hobbled off the floor, Bradshaw was in for his first goal.

Patterson, who would probably have been called in for a second period, was still recuperating when Bradshaw, after Whipper and Arnie Dugan had lifted the T-Men into a 5-4 lead, broke away for the disputed goal.

Then Whipper drew his second penalty for a wrap-around check

WAS IT OR WASN'T IT?—THAT'S THE QUESTION

This was moment in final game of western Canada senior lacrosse final at Memorial Arena Friday night when all eyes were on official timer Sid Watson as he explained incident with time clock which resulted in unsuccessful Nanaimo protest. Listening intently to Watson (right), are referee Sid Greenwood,

Timberman coach Harry Whipper (2), Shamrock captain Peeewe Bradshaw and referee Earl MacDonald (behind Bradshaw). Timbermen claimed third period was over when Bradshaw scored goal that helped Rocks to 8-6 victory. (Times Photo by Bill Halkett.)

Petes Counting on Moon; Shamrocks Pick Up Skip

Victoria coach Whitey Severson and Peterborough Timbermen have already decided to disagree although the Shamrocks and Petes don't open their best-of-seven Canadian senior lacrosse final at Memorial Arena until Monday night.

Severson, who guided the Rocks to an 8-6 victory over Nanaimo in the deciding game of the Western Canada final, this morning named the three Nanaimo players he wants to use in the Mann Cup final and predicted triumph over the Petes, "maybe in four straight games."

The main reason for Severson's confidence centres around goalkeepers. "Moon Wootton has been the backbone of the Petes," said Whitey, "we hear he is slipping and on his way down. We have a better goalie in Gordie Johnston and it's goaltending that will decide the series."

Timberman, formerly the Trailers, claim that the starry Wootton, playing in his eighth straight Mann Cup playoff, is still the best in the shot-stopping business and had also made victory predictions before stepping on the plane this morning for the trip to Victoria.

REPLACEMENTS NAMED

Adding to Severson's confidence is the fact that he expects to pick Nanaimo stars Skip McKay, Arnie Dugan and Gogi Stewart as replacements for Tommy Druce and Jack Howse, out for the season with injuries, and Jack Blonda.

McKay, who drew a suspension for the balance of the western series after a tiff with referee Earl MacDonald in the first game, has agreed to join the Irish and Severson expects to hear from Dugan and Stewart later today.

Severson declined to disclose any lineup changes since he plans to use only McKay in the opener.

Peterborough, in the Canadian final for the seventh straight year and winner of the Mann Cup four times in succession before being dethroned by the Shamrocks here two years ago, have also added strength through replacements.

PICKED UP FOUR

Although reported to be short on bench strength during the eastern playoffs, the Petes appear amply supplied with talent with the addition of high-scoring Florie Tomchison of Long Branch, Doug Smith of St. Catharines and two highly-regarded Peterborough juniors—Paul Parnell and Ron Jay.

Wootton's record certainly doesn't indicate the years have taken the edge off his effectiveness. He appeared just as sharp as ever in building up the best goals-against average in the Ontario senior loop this season, allowing only 170 goals in the 18 games he played.

Carrying most of the scoring load for the Petes this season were speedy Bobby Allan, who collected 127 for Nanaimo last season and picked up 56 goals and 45 assists for the Petes this year, Bob Curtis and Jim Heffernan, another Nanaimo star.

Allan, who helped Nanaimo win the Mann Cup last season, may be unable to play in this year's final since he has been unable to obtain a release from the 1956 champions and declared ineligible by the Canadian Lacrosse Association.

STILL A CHANCE

However, the Petes still have hopes and will hear the final decision on their appeal to use the fancy stick-handling speedster after the CLA holds its annual meeting here Monday.

Other potent scoring threats for the former Trailers are playing-coach like Hildebrand, who had a 44-point season, Rock Batley and Buddy McDougall.

Working in front of Wootton is a hard-hitting defence corps, made up of three veterans of Mann Cup competition—Carl Brioux, Lou Nickle and Bev Groves—and rookie Gordon Hunt.

Shamrocks will be a tired club after their energy-draining series with Nanaimo, but odds may flicker around the even-money level when the finalists lock horns Monday night.

Second game of the series will be played Wednesday and the third is slated Friday night. Additional games, where needed, will be scheduled Monday, Wednesday, Friday and Saturday of the following week.

Seals Clinch Flag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

San Francisco Seals have clinched their first Pacific Coast League pennant in 11 years—and their last.

The Seals, who give way next year in the Bay City to the National League New York Giants, grabbed a four-game lead with only three games to play by shutting out Sacramento 3-0 as second-place Vancouver lost 4-3 to Seattle.

San Francisco hurler R. W. Smith pitched four-hit ball for the key triumph as Pumpsie Green scored twice and led the 12-hit Seal batting attack.

San Diego's Billy Moran slammed a homer with the bases loaded and mates Bill Harrell and Dave Pope each added another four-bagger to pace the Padres 8-6 over Los Angeles. The cellar-dwelling Portland Beavers squeezed by Hollywood, in third, 5-4, to win the first game of their final PCL series.

HEARTBREAKER

The Vancouver defeat was a real heartbreaker for the Mounties. Only one of the Rainier runs was earned. Seattle won in the 12th when speedy Bobby Balena raced home on a throwing error by second baseman Owen Friend.

Balena, on first with one out, headed for second as Al Federoff laid a perfect bunt down the third base line. Mounty third baseman Kal Segrist threw to first but Friend was late in covering the bag and Federoff was safe.

Balena rounded second without stopping and raced toward third. Friend fired to third, which had been left uncovered. His throw sailed into the outfield and Balena scored.

San Diego Padres, battling in a fourth-place tie with Seattle, not only paced their own victory with home runs but watched Angel slugger Steve Bilko again fail in his quest for homer No. 57.

CROWE SAVING BIG GUNS FOR MONDAY'S CONTEST

VANCOUVER (BUP)—Coach Clem Crowe, in a strategic move to lift British Columbia Lions out of the Western Interprovincial Football Union cellar, announced the benching of four key players for tonight's game against Edmonton Eskimos.

Fullback Don Vivic, tackle Dick Foster, centre Roy Jensen and defensive end Don Lord will sit the game out so they'll be ready for Monday night's game here against third-place Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

SIDELINE SLANTS

BY

Doug Peden

That was a whale of a lacrosse series that finished at Memorial Arena Friday night and the tense windup battle could make the Mann Cup final an anti-climactic affair for Victoria's fans.

It is doubtful that attendance at any of the Mann Cup games will match the total of 5,422 fans—first sellout sports crowd in the arena since the Shamrocks ended Peterborough's four-year reign on the lacrosse throne two years ago—or that the series will generate the type of rivalry that has become part of Victoria-Nanaimo battles.

Although the Rocks fully earned their victory, it was a tough loss for the defending champion Timbermen, who might have pulled it out with a couple of breaks in the final game, and felt cheated by the incident of the time clock in the third period.

But even if their protest on the disputed play had been allowed, the Timbermen would have been in poor condition to resume the argument in the replay which would have had to be scheduled at Memorial Arena tonight.

Like the Rocks, they were already down to skeleton strength, and could hardly have hoped to survive after losing Lisle Scott and Joe White with injuries in Friday's finale.

Scott, for probably the first time in his lacrosse career, hobbled off the floor with an injury. The rugged little defenceman has had to take time out for temporary repairs before, but has always been able to come right back for more. Last night he apparently tore knee ligaments on a twisting stop in the second quarter and couldn't stay with it when he tried to come back later and will probably have to take things easy for several weeks.

White went out with a twisted ankle midway in the final period and would have been an extremely doubtful starter.

Whitey Severson's selection of Skip McKay, Arnie Dugan and Gogi Stewart of the Timbermen as replacements for the Mann Cup series could prove a happy one for the Rocks.

McKay was Nanaimo's standout player through the regular season and in the semifinal playoff against New Westminster. And he appeared headed for a great series before electing to argue with referee Earl MacDonald in the first game of the western final. He'll be rested and should give the Irish added strength on both defence and attack.

Shamrocks Tired, But Fired Up

Dugan was the best man in the recent series and if he decides to again don the Irish green should also add considerable two-way strength, as he did while performing with the Rocks on their unsuccessful trip to Peterborough's "dust bowl" three years ago.

Stewart, although more of an individualist, could give more versatility to the Shamrock attack and, if he can keep going against the rugged Peterborough checking, will be a threat to break through for important goals.

Shamrocks will be a tired club when they trot out against the Petes. It is unfortunate that the semifinal series was dragged out and the recent one extended until the battered western representatives will go into the Mann Cup final with only two days of rest.

However, the Shamrocks came out of the series without any additional injuries. They are fired up, while the Petes may be slow to get back into high gear after more than a week's layoff. The Rocks could keep right on rolling toward their second Mann Cup in their fourth clash with the eastern champs.

ARNIE DUGAN

... series' best.

Once Again It Appears Oak Bay Team to Beat

The defending champions once again appear to be the team to beat, but if Friday's Intermediate Football League contest at Royal Athletic Park is any indication, it appears Navy is capable of tossing Oak Bay into rough water before the year is out.

OBJECT—TALENT

Kilburn Off On Own Hunt

Opening shots in another deer hunting season were being fired around Vancouver Island this morning, but Colin Kilburn wasn't interested in venison as he prepared for a hunting expedition of his own.

His will be a search for hockey talent and when he heads east tonight, the only ammunition carried by the general manager and coach of Victoria Cougars will be a persuasive tongue.

Kilburn will try to talk the Boston Bruins and New York Rangers into sending two capable defencemen and two forwards, one a seasoned left-winger, to Victoria, when he visits training camps of the two National Hockey League clubs on his one-week junket.

Lynn Patrick, general manager of the Bruins, parent club of Victoria's community-owned Western Hockey League entry, will be his main target, and if he gets the players he wants, Kilburn believes the Cougars will be ready for the WHL wars.

One worry was lifted from Kilburn's shoulders when Nainimo Timmermen were ousted from the lacrosse picture Friday night. Kilburn was able to announce that the Cougars will start training in Nainimo Sept. 29 and all players will report at the Malaspina Hotel one day earlier.

One of the players he hopes to obtain from the Bruins is winger Larry Leach, and he hopes the Rangers will also send winger Bruce Carmichael back for another season in Victoria.

Cougars will be near the new WHL player limit of 14, including a goalkeeper, when they start their training chores.

Donnie Hamilton, expected to take over the spot vacated by Marcel Pelletier, and amateur Earl Anshelm will be working out in goal with Carl Kaiser, obtained from Vancouver in the Pelletier trade that also brought winger Freddie Brown to the Cougars and amateurs Gordie Matheson and Bob Cowan will be trying for defence spots.

STRONG SPOT
The club appears strong at centre ice with Eddie Dorobay, back after two seasons at Seattle; Gordie Haworth, returning for a second season; Gordie Wilson, who will give his knee another try, and Doug Anderson listed as centre men.

ARCH STILL OPTIMISTIC

Penalties, Breaks Could Decide It

BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—ties in this series will be the downfall of any team.

Two players injured Thursday night are expected to be back on the floor of Dixie Arena in tonight's game.

Brampton forward Bruce Wanless, who earns his living as a milkman, was up at 5 a.m. Friday and working his milk route despite an injured leg.

He said he would "play" if coach Thompson okayed it.

SPORTS SHINER
Fred Mair of Victoria, with six stitches over his eye, will probably play, said his coach, Mair, sporting a big, black shiner, was impressed by Ex-celsiors.

"We've played some hard teams but these guys are hard to check and big, too. Whoever wins the next game will be most likely the champ."

A teammate, defenceman Phil Willis, spoke for the whole team in complaining about the weather.

He said: "This humid, sticky weather is hard on us. We're used to fresh, cool mountain air. However, we can't blame the weather for our loss Thursday night. It was our own fault."

PENALTIES VITAL
Recalling that both teams scored most of their goals with an opposing player in the penalty box Thursday night, Brampton coach George Thompson made this statement:

"The West is good but so are we. All I can say is that penalties are vital."

Unbeaten until they met Friday, Oak Bay came on with a rush in the late stages to defeat Navy, 26-1, and grab top place in the three-team grid circuit.

A well-balanced attack, aided immensely by crisp blocking, saw Oak Bay roll to a touchdown before half-time, another in the third and two more in the final quarter.

Ken Higgs, the former B.C. Lion, scored two of Oak Bay's majors to cap a stellar evening's work before over 600 customers. Gordie Hemmingway, another Oak Bay workhorse, and second-string quarterback George Wilson added the others.

Most of the way, it was Higgs in the plunges, Wilson and Hemmingway around the ends and some steady passing by Jack Patrick, who kept the team moving for three quarters.

Navy, despite an inability to get rolling once it was inside the Oak Bay 25-yard line, came up with a good all-round attack of its own in spots. Twice in the first quarter the sailors were within striking distance of the Drake goal line, only to be stopped cold and miss on attempted field goals. Their only point came on a third-quarter rouge.

Standouts were quarterback Otto Brown, who went 60 minutes and showed himself one of the most improved players in the league; Gerry Porter, a workhorse at fullback, and halfback Gerry Kruse.

But a couple of dropped passes at key points, plus a tendency to call pass plays on third down deep in their own zone, nullified the Navy attack.

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UP)—Two lean and weary golfers, Dr. Frank Taylor, a 40-year-old dentist, and Hillman Robbins, a 25-year-old air force lieutenant, met in a 36-hole match today for the U.S. Amateur championship.

For Taylor, who really pours on the pressure in the stretch, it will be his last shot at golfing glory. He plans on giving up major tournament golf after this one, "because it takes too much time for practice and keeps me away from my practice too much."

But despite his tired 145-pound frame, he hoped to bow out as champion. He has been that in the 121 holes he has played this far since Monday, being six under par for the rolling, sun-baked 6,860-yard course of the Country Club.

As for Robbins, he hopes to win "my first really big one and then keep on winning 'em," although he said he had "absolutely no thought of turning professional."

"I'm content to stay an amateur," the 133-pound Robbins declared.

TORRID WINDUP
Taylor, two down after 21 holes, really put on the pressure starting with the 23rd, winning eight of the next 10 holes, four of them with birdies, to beat Mason Rudolph, a 23-year-old army private from Clarksville, Tenn., 5 and 4.

Rex Baxter, a 21-year-old University of Houston student who is building up a reputation as one of the best match players in the business, was 2 up on Robbins as late as the 26th hole. But then he started spraying his tee and fairway shots, carding six bogeys in a row starting with the 30th hole, and he bowed out, 2 down to Robbins. They, too, had been even at the end of the morning 18.

It interrupted a string of 25 consecutive match play triumphs for Baxter in NCAA, the Trans-Mississippi and Walker Cup play this year.

Thumper Through For Year?

BOSTON (UP)—Because of unusually warm weather and a lingering respiratory ailment, Ted Williams, the major league's leading hitter at .376, was just about ready to call it quits for the 1957 season today.

Williams, who has been missing from the Boston Red Sox lineup since Sept. 1, when he was stricken by an upper respiratory infection following the completion of a series in Baltimore, called off a scheduled Fenway Park workout Friday night on orders from club physician Dr. Ralph McCarthy.

Red Sox officials declined comment on the prospects for the return of the hard-hitting, 39-year-old outfielder to the lineup during the team's 15 remaining games.

Mickey Mantle, engaged in a hot duel with Williams for the batting title, returned to the New York Yankee lineup Friday after a 10-day absence because of shin splints. Mantle collected two hits to raise his batting mark to .370. Williams already has qualified for the American League batting title, having made over 400 official plate appearances.

Willie's an Ace Capable Of Spoiling Card Party

By United Press

Willie Mays and Roy Sievers don't have the traditional advantage of playing for pennant contenders but there probably wouldn't be a whisper of protest among baseball men if they won the year's most valuable player awards.

The New York Giants' brilliant all-around star and the Washington Senators' slugger were "one-man gangs" again Friday night as they sought to nail down statistical proofs of their great seasons. Mays had four hits and threw out a runner at the plate as the Giants whipped St. Louis Cardinals, 7-3, while Sievers drove in three runs with a pair of homers to lead the Senators to an 11-6 triumph over the Kansas City Athletics.

Giants' victory held the Cardinals five games behind the first-place Milwaukee Braves, who bowed to the Brooklyn Dodgers, 5-1, in the National League race while the only significance of the Senator's win was they now have a mere 14 games to play before they can watch the World Series on TV.

IMPORTANT GAINS
But, individually, Willie and Sievers made important hay.

Mays, seeking his second NL batting title, raised his average to .336, four points behind St. Louis' Stan Musial, who struck out in his only appearance in the game. Sievers' 37th and 38th homers gave him a lead of four over Mickey Mantle and his three RBIs raised his AL-leading total to 105.

Dodgers scored four runs on three hits and four straight walks in the seventh inning to deal the wobbly Braves, Don Drysdale struck out five and allowed only five hits in gaining his 15th victory compared to nine defeats.

Smoky Burgess' eighth-inning homer provided the margin of victory as Cincinnati Redlegs out-slugged Philadelphia Phillies, 8-7, and Pittsburgh Pirates defeated the Chicago Cubs, 4-1 and 2-1, in other NL games.

In the American League, New York Yankees widened their lead to six games with a 7-1 triumph over the second-place Chicago White Sox and Cleveland Indians crushed Boston Red Sox, 16-3. Detroit at Baltimore was rained out.

Mantle returned to action with a triple and a double to lead a 13-hit Yankee attack that all but buried the White Sox' pennant hopes.

Tourist Experts Converging Here

World-Wide Travel Men See Victoria

Over 300 delegates to a convention of prime importance to B.C.'s tourist trade will meet at Empress Hotel Sunday to start a four-day session of the American Society of Travel Agents.

It is the first time the A.S.T.A. has met in Canada. Members include not only all top-flight travel agents but representatives of government travel bureaus and transportation companies—railways, airlines, steamship companies and coachlines. Government travel bureaus represented include those of Germany, France, Switzerland, Mexico, Hawaii and Alaska. Travel agents will attend from Arizona, Northern California, Southern California, Honolulu, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Alberta, Alaska, Hong Kong and Taipei, Formosa.

C. E. Blaney of Victoria, who is vice-president-elect of the Pacific Northwest Chapter of A.S.T.A., is vice-chairman of the conference, working with Charles B. Best and George E. Hatch of Seattle.

Delegates will arrive via CPR steamer from Seattle Sunday, and will be met by pipes and drums of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, and piped from the dock to the hotel.

Spectator Dies While Watching Lacrosse Game

Earle Clifford Heal, 61, of 952 Queens Avenue, died suddenly Friday night after his collapse at the Memorial Arena where he was watching the lacrosse game between Victoria Shamrocks and Nanaimo Timbermen.

Believed to have suffered a heart attack, Mr. Heal was rushed to hospital but was dead on arrival.

A native son of Royal Oak, he leaves the widow, Margaret; his mother, Mrs. Isabel K. Heal of 1037 Richardson; two brothers, E. R. Heal of Royal Oak and G. E. Heal of Victoria; and two sisters, Mrs. Edith Merriam of Cedar Hill and Mrs. Gladys Mycock of Coombs, B.C. He was a veteran of the First World War.

Funeral services will be held at Sands Mortuary, the Memorial Chapel of Chimes, on Tuesday at 1:30 p.m. Interment will be at Royal Oak Burial Park.

JOHN MANNING
... "the rider"

Winner Named Of Nicholas $100 Award

John Manning, sophomore at Victoria College last year, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. E. Manning, 3225 Rippon Road, has been awarded The Victoria Daily Times' B. C. Nicholas Memorial Award of $100, judges announced today.

The prize is given for the best piece of mass-media writing submitted by a student at the college each year.

Honorable mention was extended to three other contestants among a large number of entries noted this year for their originality.

Mr. Manning's winning entry, "The Rider," is a descriptive piece highly successful in creating the mood and emotions of a surfer riding shoreward on the "big wave."

SISTERS IMPRESS

The judges were also impressed by the excellent submissions presented by two sisters, Miss Jacqueline Butt and Miss Dorcas Butt, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Butt, 707 Robledo Crescent, whose articles, short stories and essays were admirably composed, and by the short story, "No Graven Image," entered by Miss Sharon Plows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Plows, 3301 Cedar Hill Road.

In addition to the winner and those receiving honorable mention, several other entrants won commendation for the imagination and vitality shown in their work.

The number of students competing was the largest since the award was first made in 1953. Judges were Mrs. Ross Napier, Stuart Keate, Anthony Emery and A. H. Stott.

TRAFFIC FINES

Russian Flag At Cenotaph Causes Fuss

An unidentified man caused a mild furor at the Legislature Friday night by raising a Russian flag on the Cenotaph flag-staff.

Minutes later, however, watchman John Stearn had the home-made ensign back to earth.

The man, described as about 20, dark and wearing dark clothes, ran away and was last seen in the grounds of Empress Hotel across the Belleville-Government intersection.

He was thought to be one of a group of UBC students seen in the vicinity at the time.

Mr. Stearn, on duty at the inquiry desk at the buildings, noticed the flag being raised at about 9:15 p.m., after the Canadian ensign was struck at sunset.

HALYARD CUT

He went down to flagstaff and found the halyard sliced through with a knife.

Normally, it would have cost the public works department $80 to hire a rigger to climb the pole and fix the rope in place, but Mr. Stearn had tied a large knot in the halyard Friday after noticing a previous attempt had been made to cut it.

The knot prevented the rope from coming down when it was cut.

Since it was nearly dark at the time, few persons actually saw the Russian emblem flying over the Legislature.

The flag measured three by five feet.

It was taken by city police who are investigating.

Bids Called On School Job

Tenders for alterations and addition to Langford Elementary School, estimated to cost $100,000, will be accepted until Oct. 4 by Clack, Clayton, Pickstone, Victoria architects.

The work contract for Sooke School District 61 was authorized in a 1956 referendum.

Three classrooms will be added as well as an activity room measuring 50 by 72 feet. New kitchen facilities, lavatories and a covered play area containing a 3,000 square foot floor area are also to be provided.

The main addition will form a two-story frame wing extending the school to the north and west. The covered play area will adjoin the south end of the present building.

Completion date is intended to be reached in the early spring of 1958.

Clack, Clayton, Pickstone have nearly completed plans for another $100,000 addition for Sooke Elementary School. Tenders will probably be called in October.

ADVICE, WISERACKS HER REWARD

Ol' Bones Kerr, in and Out Gains Pounds, Loses Half of It

Times' reporter Dinah Kerr is on her third day of Josephine Lowman's nine-day weight-gaining diet. Here is the continuing record of her suffering.

By DINAH KERR
The boss is petulant because I lost a half-pound overnight. He wished to know if I had been out "dissipating."

"No," I said primly. "I went right to bed after my glass of milk."

His voice took on an accusing tone. "Well, why weren't you?" he said.

What I am trying to tell you is that since I started Josephine Lowman's nine-day gaining diet two days ago, I can't seem to do anything right.

People no longer regard me as a person. I have become a 114½-pound stomach.

Josephine tells me to be calm but how can I, Josephine, when I am weighed down by social responsibility and wisecracks? For instance, after a demoralizing breakfast of hot cakes, I was greeted at the office this morning by a letter from Dr. Trebbini, Brentwood hypnotist, mentalist and magician.

He enclosed a picture of "Mr. Bones," a skeleton who is head ghost in the Trebbini "House of Thrills."

Mr. Bones is looking for a companion, the doctor said, and "perhaps if the diet doesn't work, you'd be interested."

The hot cakes still lurking around in my stomach, I was then subjected to a phone call from a lady who had been on a gaining program last year. And what was the glad news?

"Well, I gained weight," she said. "My legs and arms are still thin, but I now have a round stomach and a double chin."

I am seriously considering the advice of a trusted friend. "Throw out the diet," he said, "and start drinking lots of stout."

I will mull this over through the weekend, in the meantime stuffing the following in:

SUNDAY BREAKFAST—Corn flakes with sliced banana, one egg, buttered toast, coffee with cream and sugar.

MID-MORNING—Fruit juice. LUNCH—Cream soup, whole wheat bread and American cheese sandwich, fresh fruit.

MID-AFTERNOON—Milk. DINNER—Helping of roast with gravy, yellow squash, salad of grapefruit and avocado, french dressing, potatoes au gratin, apple dumpling and milk before retiring.

MONDAY BREAKFAST—Fruit juice, whole wheat cereal, buttered toast, four slices of bacon, coffee with cream and sugar.

LUNCH—Cream soup, four stalks of celery stuffed with cheese, buttered rolls, milk, chocolate eclairs.

MID-AFTERNOON—Milk. DINNER—Salmon loaf or fish with cream sauce, lima beans, broccoli, spinach or greens, steamed carrots, prune whip with whipped cream and nuts, milk before retiring.

Site Chosen For Marilyn Swim Plaque

The Marilyn Bell memorial plaque will stand on a grassy bluff overlooking the spot where she splashed ashore after swimming Juan de Fuca last year.

The site, chosen by parks administrator W. H. Warren Friday, is about 100 yards east of Finlayson Point.

A public ceremony will see a cairn unveiled there at 10 a.m. Sept. 28—Marilyn's wedding day. She married Joseph Wesley Di Lascio, teacher and summertime lifeguard, at 10 a.m. in Alderwood, Ontario.

Mr. Warren and Capt. E. M. Cavin, who navigated Miss Bell's winning swim course Aug. 23, 1956, visited the landing area Friday. Capt. Cavin said the site for the cairn is directly above the spot where Marilyn reached shore.

DODGED KELP

"She came in here to avoid that kelp bed," he said pointing. "I remember the shore was black with spectators from here to Clover Point."

A footpath which skirts the bluff leads past the site to the lookout on Finlayson Point. The area, shielded from Dallas Road by bushes, makes a scenic picnic spot.

To the east are Trial Island and Clover Point. There is an excellent vista of the strait and the U.S. shore. The world's tallest totem peeks at the spot over roadside trees, and to the north-west, the top of the Beacon Hill flagpole is just visible.

Parks department will start immediately to prepare a cairn of selected stones. To it will be affixed the large granite plaque donated by the Toronto branch of Canadian Memorial Craftsmen.

Many of the officials who took part in the world-famous swim will be present at the ceremonies. Unveiling will be carried out by Mayor Percy Scurrell.

Fish Trap Worker Stricken; Rushed To City by Boat

Emergency run of a Sooke fishing boat off Beechey Head fish traps at about 9 a.m. today started a fish trap watchman toward medical treatment after he suffered a stroke on the job.

George Barker, about 45, of Sooke, was partially paralyzed on one side when brought by Sooke Ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital about an hour later.

He is employed by Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Co., which sent a boat to bring the victim six miles back to the government wharf at Sooke, where he was examined by a doctor and transferred to the ambulance.

The hospital described his condition at noon as fair.

Record Library Popular; 26,568 Loaned in Year

Almost 100 records a day have been loaned out by Victoria Public Library in the first year of operation of the semi-classical department.

Circulation total was 26,568 which meant each of 700 recordings was borrowed an average of 38 times. Breakages were few, but there were quite a few discs returned with scratches. Damage is the responsibility of the lender.

Chief librarian John Lort, who released the circulation figures today, said vocalists in the semi-classical department were most popular with record borrowers. Albums and selections from shows such as "My Fair Lady" led the field.

Cost of the first year of operation has been about $1,600. Records may be kept one week. A borrower may take three at a time or an album.

THE LATE HARRY LANGLEY

Death Claims Harry Langley In 73rd Year

Harry Langley, 72, of 1010 Foul Bay Road, well known court stenographer and active participant in public affairs, died Friday at Royal Jubilee after a short illness.

Born in Lester, England, he was vice-president of the Royal Society of St. George, and a member of the Metropolitan Church choir. In 1946 he ran for an aldermanic seat here in protest against chlorination.

Surviving are the widow, Lilly, at home; two sons, William, at Williams Lake, and Robert, Victoria; three daughters, Miss Lona Langley and Mrs. E. Jones, Victoria, and Miss Madeleine Langley, Vancouver; six grandchildren, seven brothers, and three sisters.

Funeral will be held at Chaplin's Chapel Tuesday at 1:30 p.m., and interment will be at Royal Oak Burial Park.

MONTÉ ROBERTS

I have decided life is much too complex. If you wish to examine my grey hairs, and decide it is advancing age which has brought me to this conclusion, you are privileged to do so.

But I do not think it is approaching senility alone which has persuaded me life is too complex.

I think it is the Municipal Act, and its application to what are lovingly called the "corner stores."

Let us establish this immediately: I grind no axe, either for or against corner stores.

But I would like to grind an axe in favor of a poor, lowly consumer, whose only wish in life (at the time) was to procure a small bottle of mint sauce.

And if I sound confused, it is because I AM confused, and it is all because of life being too complex.

Here are the facts:

At 6:01 p.m., as a small smattering of leftover cold lamb was about to be served at our house, it was discovered we had no mint sauce, and I was dispatched to obtain a small bottle of same.

At 6:05 p.m., I arrived at our nearest corner store, and I said, "Have you any mint sauce?"

"Yes," I was told.

"A small bottle, please," I said.

"No," I was told.

"Um? What was that?" I inquired.

"No mint sauce," was the answer.

"But you said you have mint sauce," I protested. "You have mint sauce, you are open for business, why cannot you sell me a small bottle of mint sauce?"

"A small bottle of mint sauce is not perishable," I was told. "Under the Municipal Act, we cannot sell non-perishables after 6 p.m."

"Ah, hah," I said, looking about me craftily. "Do you have any FRESH mint?"

"Yes."

"Then I shall have a sprig of FRESH mint, and a small bottle of white vinegar, and I shall make my OWN small bottle of mint sauce," I said, in triumph.

"No," I was told.

"No what?" I asked.

"No bottle of vinegar. Vinegar in a bottle isn't perishable."

"How about if you took the top off the bottle?" I suggested. "Wouldn't the vinegar perish?"

"I'll have to look it up in the Municipal Act," said the owner of the corner store, as I slunk away, hoping I wouldn't be arrested for attempting to contravene the Queen's orders.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Esquimalt council will meet at the Municipal Hall Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Victoria College Film Club, sponsored by the college's evening division, has been closed to further registrations, director R. T. Wallace said today.

The club will meet for the first time at the college on Oct. 5 at 8:15 p.m.

"Other non-credit courses are also attracting heavy registrations and people wanting to attend should make their arrangements early," Mr. Wallace said. "Each year many people wait too long and find at the last minute that the course they wish is already full."

Victorians have two weeks of daylight saving left. Clocks will be turned back one hour with the end of daylight saving time on Saturday, Sept. 28.

Summer time officially ends at 2 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 29 when clocks should be put back to 1 a.m.

Directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Empress Hotel next Friday at noon.

Brian Roberts, Grower's Wine Co. Ltd., will speak on "The Political Situation in South Africa" at a meeting of Victoria Gyo Club in the Empress Hotel Monday noon.

A Mayor's Drive for blood donations may become an annual event in Victoria, Red Cross officials said today.

Intervention of the mayor last month brought a record response for a two-day clinic—841 pints.

A subsequent clinic, held a week ago brought in 605 pints. "The results were good but not as great as in the mayor's drive with its attendant publicity," a spokesman said.

ASK THE TIMES

Q—What is the population of the village of Pickering, Ont., and how far is it from Toronto? Does it have a newspaper, is it a weekly and what is its name?—D.J.S.

A—Pickering, incorporated as a town in 1951, had a population of 1,146 according to the 1956 census. It is 22 miles east of Toronto. The Pickering News, a weekly newspaper, is published every Thursday.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to The Times' Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums.

URGES CONFERENCE—Roy M. Power, 35-year-old president of the Young Liberal Association of Canada, now visiting the west coast, is urging a summer conference for the Young Liberal Association. He recently attended such a conference in Ontario and is now on a cross-Canada tour seeking to "reorganize young Liberals. With increased support he believes the Liberals "will rise to be Her Majesty's loyal opposition," then the government of B.C. and the government of Canada.

Shun Tobacco, Jesuits Told

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—The Pope has urged members of the Society of Jesus, whose religious order was founded by St. Ignatius Loyola, to shun "superfluous" things—among them tobacco.

The pontiff received generals of the society, now the largest single religious order of the Roman Catholic Church, in special audience four days ago.

The text of his address—in which the pontiff urged the Jesuits to follow the austere rules of St. Ignatius—was released today.

The pontiff urged the Jesuits to "eliminate without ado and with courage all superfluous things. Among these must be included the use of tobacco, today so diffused and which men enjoy under various forms."

Dedication Sunday At St. Michael's

Bomb Test Ban Urged By Anglicans

BRANDON, Man. (CP)—The Anglican Church of Canada Thursday called for a top-level international conference of scientists to study the effects of radioactive fallout and to place a unanimous statement before the public on whether the fallout is deadly to the human race.

It asked the federal government, through the United Nations, to press for a suspension of all atomic tests until the precise danger of fallout to humanity has been determined and made public.

New pews in the chancel and nave of St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Royal Oak, will be dedicated Sunday morning by the rector, Rev. Jack Rogers.

Special preacher at the service will be Rev. N. J. Godkin, rector of St. Catharine's Church, North Vancouver. Mr. Godkin was rector of St. Michael parish from 1948 to 1956, and under his leadership the church was extended and enlarged.

A coffee hour will follow the service so that members of the congregation may renew their acquaintance with Mr. and Mrs. Godkin.

Mr. Godkin will preach at St. Columba's Church in the evening.

Best man was LAC Glenn Lindstrom of Tofino, and ushers were Douglas Cook and John Dirom. Assorted flowers decorated Esquimalt Legion Hall where the reception was held. A three-tier wedding cake centred the table which was decorated in flowers. A Jacobs proposed a toast to the bride.

For a mainland honeymoon the bride wore a yellow dress of glazed cotton topped with a black duster and white accessories.

On their return, the young couple will live at 842 Admirals Road.

Gardens and Home Building

20 SATURDAY, SEPT. 14, 1957 Victoria Daily Times

BEASTALL ADVISES

Plants' Moisture Needs Can Be Tricky Problem

By JACK BEASTALL

Watering plants is, in my belief, the most difficult phase of gardening to explain to the beginner. It is an art that depends on the "feel" of things more than anything else and there is no rule-of-thumb for guidance. There are so many factors to be taken into consideration, and these not only vary between gardens and between plants, they also vary from day to day within a given garden.

At this time of year watering is a tricky business as far as some plants are concerned. Either too little or too much can be damaging depending on the general conditions prevailing in the garden.

We know that established trees and shrubs which continue to obtain adequate moisture will continue to make new growth, and that soft growth made this late in the season suffers winter damage.

This happens because the new wood does not harden, or ripen, under late fall conditions and therefore is not able to withstand low temperatures.

It has become a standing rule with gardeners to decrease, or even withhold, water during September to allow the hardening processes to take place, and it is a good practice to follow as we learned in November, 1955.

MANY FACTORS

To apply this rule wisely we must take into consideration the amount of moisture presently in the soil, the condition of the plants due to moisture received (or lacking) in previous months, and their location in the garden.

An exception to the rule could be foundation plants, those used around the foundation of a building to tie the structure into the landscape.

When located between a concrete wall and a concrete path, and protected by overhanging eaves, they seldom receive much natural watering, and now still require enough to keep them alive without forcing growth.

LAYERED PLANTS

Shrubs (and carnations) which were layered earlier in the season must have plenty of water in the soil around the layered portion to encourage the formation of roots. In the beginner's garden, shrub layers are best left until spring before being severed from the parent.

Plants which die to the ground each winter, the herbaceous perennials, must still receive adequate water, especially those in flower.

Biennials now being transferred to spring flowering positions (wallflower, forget-me-not, and others), also need water during September to make sturdy growth in the next month.

This all adds up to the fact that there are no hard and fast rules in gardening. Every statement requires qualifying to suit local conditions. Experimenting, observing, and carefully recording the results is one way to develop the "feel", that sixth sense which guides the experienced gardener.

QUIZZING THE GARDENER

By JACK BEASTALL

Q-1. The leaves of flag iris (Iris germanica) have browned and died early this year but there are plenty of new shoots. Is there any way to prevent this early dying, and do you cut back iris leaves except when transplanting?

A-1. The iris may have lacked water and, or food after flowering. Since new growth is visible, give a dressing of bone meal, lightly forked into the soil now, which will help them in the spring. Leaves are sometimes trimmed into neat fans after the tips start to brown, usually in September.

2. Move the weeping willow any time after the leaves have fallen. Do not plant closer than 50 feet to a tile drain because this tree needs lots of water and will block a drain to get it.

3. Clip the long shoots of privet back about half way now. Follow with a light general clipping about end of June and again early next September.

WEEK'S WORK

By JACK BEASTALL

Plant heathers and evergreens as they become available at the nurseries.

Plant out biennials in flowering places; double English daisy, Canterbury bell, myosotis (forget-me-not), Primula polyanthus, sweet William and wallflower.

Late flowering chrysanthemums may be dug from the border and planted in greenhouse bed. Water well, and ventilate freely.

Peonies may be planted now. Prepare soil mixture and pots for planting bulbs to flower indoors during winter.

Cuttings of calceolarias for next year's bedding may be kept in north cold frame over winter.

Azaleas in pots indoors enjoy syringing with tepid water. Discontinue watering of Christmas flowering cactus for one month. If slightly drooping in warm weather, give small amount of water.

Lift late varieties of potatoes, dry surface quickly, and store. Leeks may have more soil drawn around their roots on a dry day.

Onions sown last month will have germinated. Weed and cultivate lightly, but do not thin until spring.

Mark locations for trees and shrubs which may have been ordered. Dig the area deeply, keeping the topsoil for replacing around the roots, and putting the subsoil on the surface.

Sunken Living Room Smart Note In Graciously Designed House.

An unusual feature of this three-bedroom bungalow is the sunken living room with its high sloping ceiling lighted by "clerestory" roof windows. Above the level of the drawing room is a study which would also make an ideal television area and can be shut off from the dining room with multi-fold doors.

A compact kitchen overlooking a wide uniquely shaped planter box and a French door leading from the living room to rear garden are among other assets of this attractive plan.

Total floor area is 1,261 square feet. Working drawings for the plan may be obtained at minimum cost from Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation.

Wood Substitutes Fail to Fulfill Needs of TV and Hi-Fi Cabinets

The season of "home entertainment" is at hand — meaning increased use of radio and television by Canadian families in the fall and winter months. For manufacturers and dealers, who see even larger horizons in high fidelity and color TV, the season offers prospects of increased sales.

For home-makers, it raises questions of what sets to choose and how to fit them into the home.

One point that industry experts largely are agreed upon is that technical excellence has reached a peak in the electronics industry. It is a satisfying fact for homemakers because it is the rare purchaser of a radio, TV or hi-fi set who is equipped to judge the value of the technical components.

The average buyer relies on past experience, the reputation of the manufacturer and dealer, the price range of the set and the warranty offered with it.

CABINET MOST IMPORTANT

Because of this, the style and cabinetry of the set emerge as the main point in selection. Most homemakers prefer a high quality furniture like cabinet because they regard radio, TV and hi-fi sets as furniture that must fit into the home as an integral part of the decor.

They want cabinets made of the same material as fine furniture.

ture. The material is hardwood plywood, used in making more than 85 per cent of all wood furniture. Sets are available in the popular furniture plywoods — birch, cherry, maple, mahogany, oak, walnut and others.

Not all radio, TV and hi-fi cabinets have genuine hardwood plywood cabinets, industry experts point out. Particularly in the lower-priced lines, sets may have cabinets with an imitation wood grain on substitute materials. There are several ways to tell the difference. One is to compare the regular imitation photocopy grain with the varied natural figure pattern of genuine wood.

WOOD HAS WARMTH

Aside from an artificial appearance, the imitation will feel cold and lifeless to the touch, while the genuine article has warmth and texture.

A final point has to do with the performance of the set. When turned on, the set with an imitation cabinet may have tinny vibration, while a hardwood plywood cabinet aids in producing deep resonance because plywood's unusual rigidity minimizes vibration.

This factor is particularly important in hi-fi sets because perfect reproduction of sound is the main concern.

Hi-fi cabinetry can be procured in several ways. Like radio and TV sets, some hi-fi sets are being produced by manufacturers complete with the cabinet. In addition, furniture manufacturers are producing the cabinets alone to house hi-fi components purchased elsewhere.

HIGH FIDELITY SHOPS

Another method is to deal with one of the high fidelity specialty shops springing up in almost every metropolitan area. Components are selected and a staff designer plans a custom installation which may range from a small, free-standing cabinet to a glamorous "entertainment wall."

Do-it-yourself fans can get in on the act, too, either by purchasing a knockdown hardwood plywood cabinet kit for home assembly or by buying the hardwood plywood from a nearby lumber yard, designing and building the set completely at home.

Fomes Pini Does Not Affect Lumber Usage

White pocket—or white speck as it is sometimes called—is a natural characteristic in lumber. It is caused by a relatively harmless fungus known as Fomes pini.

It ceases to develop when a log containing it is cut into lumber and put into normal use. It is as harmless as other natural characteristics normally found in lumber, such as knots, shake or warp. It will not spread in any individual piece and will not spread from one piece to another. Such lumber is highly serviceable.

LABORATORY REPORT

As a result of its studies, the Forest Products Laboratory concludes that the range of uses for white pocket lumber is a wide one, remarking:

"Standard grading rules of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association and the Western Pine Association recognize both 'white speck' (pockets largely filled with cellulose) and 'firm honeycomb' (pockets empty), and admit them in limited amounts in some grades.

"There is much interest in the utilization of those grades for construction of all kinds. Lumber may be used in buildings, wood boxes or pallets, furniture cores, or for other purposes."

'Safety First' Motto For Home Workshop

By MR. FIX

Now is the time for all good handymen to check on safety procedures before they leave the gardens to return to the fall and winter workshop havens.

Insurance companies, who are concerned about such things, have been busy compiling figures on home mishaps.

Estimates of the number of disabling accidents in the home each year range from 550,000 to 640,000. Whichever figure you take, it's still too high.

Many safety precautions are unknown to amateurs, disregarded by professionals. When you handle repair or building chores, consider the following suggestions:

HAND TOOLS. Believe it or not, a tool with a cutting edge that is sharp is a lot safer than a dull tool. After you have used a saw for a time, sharpen it and reset the teeth. If you can't do this job yourself, have it done by a professional. An improperly set saw will bind, making for poor work and potential accidents.

Keep wood bits sharp. A frequent cause of accidents is application of excessive pressure on a brace because of a dull bit.

DO NOT USE a screw driver as a chisel. It will slip before it will cut the wood. Don't use a screw driver for a pry bar. The least that will happen is that you'll break the screw driver.

Don't, for obvious reasons, use a screw driver for work held in the hand. Keep the blade of a screw driver square and clean. Use it only for the size screw for which it was designed.

NEVER USE A HAMMER with a cast iron head. Pick one that's made of forged steel. Check the handle carefully. It should be well-fitted, straight-grained and free from cracks.

Properly stored hand tools will remain sharp longer. Inspect a tool before you use it. Keep tools clean at all times.

LADDERS. Largest group of accidents around the home involves falls from ladders and scaffolds. A ladder should rest on a firm, level surface. The foot of a ladder should be about one fourth of its length away from the wall.

Discard a ladder that has become worn and shaky. When using a stepladder, open it fully. Climb a ladder slowly and work only within arm's length. Keep both hands free when climbing. Put your tools in a container and haul them up with a rope.

Don't work on a ladder on a windy day. If possible, have someone around to brace a ladder. Otherwise, fasten a safety rope to the ladder, tie the other end to some projection on the wall.

POWER TOOLS. Read instructions carefully before attempting to use a new power tool. Ask the salesman for a demonstration at time of purchase.

Make sure that power tools are equipped, wherever possible, with safety guards. Enclose open-running wheels, belts and pulleys.

Power cords and electrical appliances should carry the seal of a reputable well-known testing laboratory. Remember such a seal indicates that the device meets electrical requirements for that type of equipment. It does NOT serve as a blanket guarantee of the merchandise.

YOUR POWERED equipment should be used in a circuit that is equipped with an on-off switch that you can lock shut when tools are not in use.

WEAR SAFETY GOGGLES for sawing, drilling and grinding. It's a good idea to wear them, too, when using solvents and caustic compounds.

Above all—don't take chances. There's no room for amateur experimentation with your well-being.

Alliance Foes Hit by Casey

ENGINEERING PROBLEM HITS ENGINEERS

Delegates to the engineering convention here Friday ran into an engineering hearing problem at the start of sessions.

The public address system went "on the fritz" during remarks by convention chairman H. D. Dawson, Victoria.

It went off completely. An unperturbed but unheard Mr. Dawson kept right on talking. Then the machine practically blew its top with a shrill whine that filled the spacious Georgian lounge in the Empress.

That stopped Mr. Dawson. The racket stopped in a couple of minutes and discussion resumed—on engineering problems.

Taxes Taking Toll on Roads, Reeve Claims

Many of the 6,000 miles of municipal roads and streets in B.C. are quite unsuited to modern traffic, Maj. Gen. C. A. P. Murison, reeve of North Cowichan, said Friday night.

He said this was due to the "pitifully small amount" of revenue sources left to the municipalities after the federal and provincial governments finished taxing the public.

Municipalities are "hampered and restricted by the limitation of finance" in meeting the "tremendous problem of growth."

To point up his argument, he quoted latest figures available which showed that in 1955 slightly less than $9,750,000 of the $91,000,000 revenue collected by municipalities was allocated to providing roads, water and sewers.

In addition, rising costs have been compounded by rising interest rates so that municipalities had to pay 6 per cent for loans now instead of the 4 per cent three years ago.

"So we are forced to make do . . . to build down to a price rather than build up to a high standard," the reeve said.

Air Pollution Dangerous Municipal Engineers Told

Air pollution of the lower mainland could become serious without continuing effective control, Joseph Satterthwaite, Vancouver's chief smoke inspector, Friday told municipal engineers in convention here.

Proper control depended on proper municipal legislation in this regard, she said, adding that more and more communities had realized the necessity for this.

"It is a community problem, and air pollution is bad for any community."

He said "the air you take in is your link with life. We all use an average of 35 pounds a day."

MUST BE STUDIED

No two cities have identical air pollution problems, as they vary with altitude, prevailing winds and other factors. Thus it is not advisable for a community to adopt, without study, the air pollution methods of other areas.

D. A. Welsh, assistant engineer, district of flood-troubled North Vancouver, said it was almost impossible to make an accurate approach to drainage design as for accuracy records must be kept between 50 and 100 years.

North Vancouver, he said, had subdivisions up to 1,000 feet elevation. With removal of natural growth and use of cement on roads and sidewalks, this meant run-off was seriously curtailed and flooding resulted.

Needed, he went on, were more reinforced channels and culverts.

At noon, Reeve Arthur Ash of Saanich officially welcomed the 300 delegates to the 15th annual convention of the municipal engineers' division, B.C. Association of Professional Engineers.

He said Saanich has 266 miles of road of which 165 miles was in "very poor, substandard condition."

If a full-scale road improvement program was started, cost would be nearly $5,000,000, he said.

LONG RANGE VIEW
Saanich's master sewer plan would cost $35,000,000, but the reeve added "needless to say we can't undertake that."

He advocated the long range view in municipal engineering plans.

University School Debt Paid Off; Lieut.-Gov. Ross Named to Board

Lieutenant-Governor Frank Ross consented to become a member of the University School board of governors at a Union Club luncheon tendered Friday in honor of former pupil L. Dana Wilgress, Canada's permanent delegate to the North Atlantic Council in Paris.

Mr. Wilgress attended in 1907 when the school was operated by W. W. Bolton, who joined with two other educators to found University School in 1908.

It was also announced at the luncheon that the school debt has been paid off for the first time in its half-century history, and that Mrs. R. A. Brown, mother of governor R. A. Brown, Jr., Calgary, has contributed $125,000 for a new dining hall and kitchen.

Governors said it was largely due to the efforts of headmaster J. J. Timmis that the school debt was paid.

The school—one of 17 independent schools in Canada operating for educational purposes above profit—opened this term with 135 boarders and 75 day boys, largest enrolment in its history.

The board of governors now include Mr. Ross, F. N. Cabell, DSO, CBE, chairman; vice-chairman Russell Ker, OBE; F. E. Winslow, OBE; R. A. Brown, Jr., Calgary, president of Home Oil; B. B. Pelly, Seattle, and W. G. Dittmars, Vancouver.

Plans are laid already for further expansion and improvements to the school, and objective to achieve this has been set at $1,000,000.

Mr. Wilgress wrote the "forward" to the brochure explaining plans.

High enrolment at University school is reflected at other private schools in the Victoria area. Several have turned away applicants.

Glenlyon Preparatory School is filled with 88 students. St.

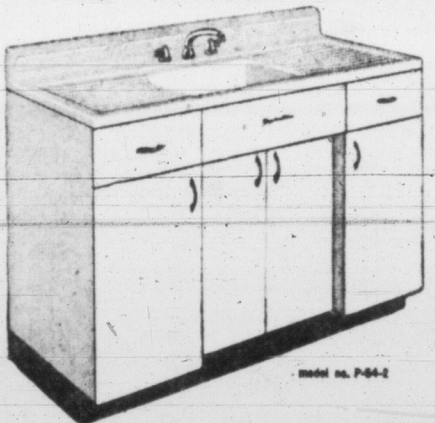

Christopher's primary and kindergarten has 92. Shawinigan Lake School for Boys has its highest registration in 25 years. Each has turned away applicants.

PUZZLES and PASTIMES

RECOGNIZE THE CHAIR?

Turnabout is fair play, 'tis said. Here's a case in point. It's long been the custom in parliamentary procedure for "the chair" to recognize persons. In this test, persons are challenged to the reverse practice of recognizing "the chair."

Ten chairs, readily identifiable by name, are provided for this purpose, above and below.

IT'S CRYPTIC MAT

Complete this problem in multiplication by finding the digits represented by letters:

BBEE
E1A0
D01C

DECEEE

Zeros and ones are in their correct positions; those are not "ohs" and "ohs." A seven also is in its correct place. These provide clues that should make it easy for you to find the solution.

T'EN BY STORM?

The shower was over when I, unfortunately late by half an hour, met Hester. She had no umbrella, raincoat or rubbers with her. Yet she was not wet, although she had stood around in the shower for more than an hour. How could this be?

IT'S YOUR MOVE

Black is vulnerable here and White makes the most of it. Can you sit in for White and play to win in six moves? White moves first, traveling up the checkerboard.

IT'S A GIVE AND T.K.F. MIX-UP

Two glasses are of the same size and shape. One contains water and the other contains wine. Your host takes a spoon and transfers a spoonful of water from the water glass to the wine glass. Then he takes a spoonful of the mixture from the wine glass and puts it into the water glass. Question: Does he transfer more water to the wine glass or more wine to the water glass?

JUST SUPPOSE THIS

Suppose you were to take this page and fold it in half, then fold it in half, again at right angles to the first fold. You'd have four thicknesses of paper. Now suppose you tore it in half. How many pieces of paper would you have then?

You're supposed to answer without actually folding the paper.

BLANK WORDS

Fill in the two blanks in each of the following sentences with words spelled with the same letters rearranged. For instance, the answer to No. 1 is hate, heat. Now go on:

- "I ——— such weather," John complained. "The ——— is more than I can bear."
- Having drawn in his ———, the fisherman counted ——— fish in it.
- Ancient Romans wore a ———, which was sometimes made of ——— hair.
- The burglars tried to ——— the carpenter shop, but were frightened away after breaking open one of the ——— chests.
- Sightseers are kept by a ——— from getting too close for safety when viewing the inside of the ———.

A GOOD CONDUCTOR?

Two fathers and two sons, each paying full fare, travel on three tickets. How is this possible legally? This should be answered in a minute or less by alert puzzle fans.

TEN BITTER LUMPS?

When the coffee cups and sugar are passed at the buffet supper, ask to use three cups before they are filled. Leave them up on the table with a bowl of lump sugar beside them. Now challenge anybody to distribute 10 lumps of sugar in the cups so that there is an odd number of lumps in every cup.

STAND ON YOUR HEAD FOR THIS

I am a number of three digits, whose sum is 13. If you take 8 away from me, and then divide what is left by the sum of my second and third digits, you will get 25; and, if you add 99 to me, you will invert my digits. What number am I?

WATCHING YOUR STEP

A person starts from a given point. If each time that he takes two steps forward he must take one step backward, how many steps will he have to take in order to reach a point five steps ahead of where he started?

THERE'S A CATCH TO THIS

A has what B has. B has what C has. A and B together have the same as B and C apart. What has each?

RIDDLE

What musical instrument sets a good example for all to follow?

JOLLY JIGSAW POSER

There's a happy scene portrayed in the jigsaw at right. Juniors can have some fun assembling it.

Cut around the straight outside lines of puzzle. Put paste all over the back and put puzzle on wrapping, construction, or notebook paper. Press under a book. When thoroughly dry, carefully put out the eight pieces of the puzzle and see if you can put them together to form a picture.

After you have succeeded, scramble the pieces and let someone else try. It's interesting to keep track of your time, too, to see who can do it fastest.

'MIKE' PEARSON SAYS:

Russians Aim At Confusion

By HON. LESTER B. PEARSON
(Copyright, 1957. All rights reserved.)

The decision last week of the United Nations sub-committee on disarmament to adjourn its meetings in London indefinitely—it is doubtful whether it will meet again—should be read in the light of two developments: (1) The Russian announcement of a successful test of an intercontinental ballistic missile and (2) The forthcoming meeting of the United Nations General Assembly.

The first has caused—as the Russians meant it to cause—some alarmed speculation about Russian leadership in this field of weapons and gloomy warnings that if we did not now succeed in the situation was bad enough, there is no cause for exaggerated alarm—which is what the Communists want. The West will soon have produced its own reply to the new Russian weapon. It would come even sooner if within governments and between governments there were a single, centralised effort in the search for it. When it does, we will be just where we were—apart from the necessity of scrapping bombers and completely revising early warning and interception defence systems.

Our compelling purpose now should be to accept the implications of these ballistic missile developments, not only in terms of new defences but also of the extra diplomatic effort for peace and disarmament which becomes more and more pressing. But we should not allow these separate Russian announcements, designed to throw us off balance, distract us from this goal by ill-considered and hasty moves.

Radar Used on Pigs To Bring Home Bacon

BONN (Reuters)—Echo sounding, normally used to measure the depth of the sea, can be adapted for measuring the thickness of bacon on living pigs, the West German Pig Breeders Association reported today.

Three experts who tried the system on 137 pigs said it is accurate enough for breeding and economic purposes, simple to carry out and painless for the pigs.

Echo sounding works by means of supersonic impulses which penetrate the bacon and bounce back from the bones. An instrument measures the

Forests Barred, Hunters Miffed

Current hot spell that drove the official thermometer Friday to a new high for the year will continue through Sunday, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Highest temperature Friday, which also is the highest for this year and for any Sept. 13 here in Victoria, was 81.2 degrees. He said the maximum temperature today and Sunday will be about 80 degrees.

Although holidaymakers and picnickers are jubilant about the present clear, sunny, hot weather, hunters are annoyed at the possible fire hazard it has created.

MacMillan and Moedel Ltd., that had announced weeks ago that its lands would be open to hunters, on Friday said they would be closed for the opening of deer season today.

Areas affected are Copper Canyon at Chemainus, Nanaimo River, Northwest Bay at Parksville, Sprout Lake near Alberni, and Franklin River on the Alberni Canal.

Also closed to hunters were operations of Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd. at Ladysmith, Nanaimo Lakes, and Tsolum, near Courtenay.

Calculated risk B.C. Forest Service has placed no restrictions on the forests. "We are taking a calculated risk and are leaving the forests open," one official said. "This has proved to be safe slash burning weather, because the humidity at night is high enough to control fires. Slash fires reaching green timber have been going out because of the high humidity in the green forests."

Highest temperature ever recorded here in September was 88.8 degrees Sept. 5, 1944. Highest Sept. 14 temperature was 88 degrees recorded in 1937.

British Atom Blast Starts New Series

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—The first atomic explosion in a new series of British tests was set off today from a tower at the Maralinga test area.

More than 1,000 Britons, Australians and Canadians, including 200 scientists, conducted the test. Immediately after the explosion a task force of 40 RAF planes began checking on fallout. Scientists said they were delighted with the results.

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India moved today to get Communist China seated in the United Nations Assembly's 12th session, starting Tuesday.

Bolton Keeps Seven-Year Soccer Mark

LONDON (UPI)—Bolton, which hasn't lost a home soccer game to Manchester United in seven years, kept that jinx alive today by handing the league leaders their first loss of the year, 4-0.

Bolton took a 1-0 lead over the glamor team of Britain in the first half and surprised even the most loyal home-town rooters with its second-half attack. Leading the Bolton defence was Nat Lofthouse, an international star now playing centre-forward again after a spell at wing.

Manchester United, with 11 points in seven games, held its league lead when lowly regarded Aston Villa surprised second-place Luton, 2-0.

SET UP UN FORCE

During the winter the Middle East crisis was resolved to a large extent through the use of the UN Emergency Force in the Suez area.

The Hungarian crisis resolved itself—the hard way—after Russia intervened to crush the uprising. The revolt was dead, but the West made continued efforts to keep its memory alive.

Epidemic Sweeps Several Areas

Suspicion that Asiatic flu, or a derivative of that virus, is already active in Victoria was voiced today by Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy.

She was commenting on news reports of a heavy incidence of a type of influenza, not necessarily the Asiatic variety, that is sweeping sections of the country.

There are "a few" cases in town, she said, but no tests have yet been taken by local doctors, to her knowledge.

There is a flu going the rounds "... which could have started as Asiatic flu." The doctor explained the flu virus "mutates" or changes in quality as it passes through a population.

"I don't think it is very bad if it is here. When it hits school attendance we'll know it's here." So far, the doctor said, school nurses have reported school absenteeism is "normal."

The flu which has been reported to the doctor, "... is more severe than the usual cold. I have asked doctors to make tests, but I don't know whether any have done so yet." The only laboratory conducting tests of blood of flu victims is in Ottawa. If there is sudden widespread illness here, symptoms will be noted and tests made.

After confirmation of the first case or "index case," the ailment will be accepted as present wherever the same symptoms are noted.

Possibility that the Asiatic flu virus has changed in nature since reaching this continent is contained in widespread reports of influenza, not labeled Asiatic.

Children Main Victims in Ottawa

At Prince Rupert today it was reported 19 per cent of the school population is ill—433 out of 2,384 children were sick. Health officials say the incidence of the disease is "on the wane" there.

In Halifax, the RCN reported 250 trainees at Cornwallis training base are suffering from a respiratory disease. It is being investigated to determine whether it is Asiatic flu.

Integration Pledged To Ike by Gov. Faubus

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI)—President Eisenhower said today that Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus had stated that he would respect the decision of the federal government in integrating the central high school in Little Rock.

Faubus said that he expected the department of justice and the federal courts "will act with understanding and patience in discharging their duties."

The statements of the president and the governor were made after they had met together for two hours and 10 minutes this morning to discuss the situation at Little Rock which had seen national guard troops barring nine Negro students from central high school.

Eisenhower said: "I recognize the inescapable responsibility resting upon the governor to preserve law and order in his state," he said. "I am gratified by his constructive and co-operative attitude at our meeting. I have assured the governor of the co-operation of federal officials."

Most of the fans at deciding game of western Canada senior lacrosse final at Memorial Arena Friday night found plenty to cheer about when Victoria Shamrocks scored against Nanaimo. This is one of occasions but there is no

Know Your Teacher

MRS. K. COCHRANE
... Nice to be back.

Ex-Teachers Of Teacher Colleagues

Two teachers who taught her in grade eight are now fellow staffers for Mrs. Kathleen Cochrane, 26, at Monterey School.

Principal W. C. Brynjolfsson and vice-principal Joseph P. Emery have been teaching at Monterey through the years that Mrs. Cochrane completed her education at Oak Bay High School, Victoria College, and the Provincial Normal School—then taught for six years before returning to Monterey.

Her teaching experience is gained from three years at a Burnaby school and another three at University Hill elementary school on the UBC campus.

Now Mrs. Cochrane is passing on her knowledge to Monterey's grade three students.

A graduate of the architectural school at UBC, her husband Andrew, 28, came to Victoria to work for the provincial public works department and "it's certainly nice to be back," Mrs. Cochrane said.

The couple is moving into a new apartment at 1171 Newport with the hope they can move into a Cochrane-designed house in the near future.

Curtis Defends City's Grant

A defence of city council action in granting $2,100 to a Canadian Chamber of Commerce civic banquet here Sept. 28, was issued today by alderman Austin L. Curtis.

Heavy criticism has been directed at the grant recently by Ald. Hugh Ramsay, Ald. J. Donald Smith and in published statements by the public at large.

In his capacity as entertainment committee chairman for City Hall, Ald. Curtis pointed out:

"After examining programs of former annual meetings of this body (the national chamber), as far back as they are available, in every case the host city tendered such an affair." It was his impression, said Ald. Curtis, that most of our citizens would want to do the same.

This bringing together in one place approximately 700 leading industrialists and businessmen is eagerly sought out by cities right across Canada, believing it is good business to have such an influential party visit their locality.

LONG-RANGE BENEFIT
"Apart from the immediate monetary benefit derived from such a large number of people visiting the city for five days, it is possible that considerable financial benefits of a permanent nature may later accrue."

He added it is not generally known local business firms and individuals have already committed themselves to the extent of $14,000 in the matter of entertaining these visitors, "... and showing them what we have in this area."

Ald. Curtis added, "For many years a grant of $2,000 has been turned over annually to the Chamber of Commerce by the city, but was discontinued this year and in addition the newly-imposed business tax will result in business interests paying into the city offers an extra $160,000 beyond the amount previously collected through trade licences."

The grant question is expected to be re-opened by Ald. Ramsay at a city council meeting Thursday.

Workmen plowed trenches to tap a water main flowing toward Fyde Street—already shaken by a crater 50 feet square and 25 feet deep which wrecked 24 houses and forced evacuation of 118 others.

Cracks in the ground spread out like an octopus, undermining the centre of the densely-populated residential district in this town of 26,000.

The cave-in, first discovered Thursday morning, was blamed on the collapse of a water main running under the street.

There are indications, some officials said, that veins of a long-abandoned coal mine had weakened the earth's surface.

alive through continual moral intervention.

Thirty-five other countries joined the U.S. and Britain in sponsoring the new condemnatory resolution, which contained a further clause calling for a UN representative to carry on the assembly's efforts to aid the Hungarian people.

Nominated for this task was Prince Wan Waitayakon of Thailand, president of the outgoing assembly and a diplomat who is personally popular with both the Soviet and Western groups. In addition, he is identified with the powerful Asian-African voting bloc which is growing in influence in the one-country one-vote assembly.

The only negative votes were cast by the nine Soviet-bloc countries and Yugoslavia.

The Arab countries were divided. Syria, which has given indications of moving closer to the Communist camp, abstained. Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan, Tunisia, Morocco, Libya and the Sudan voted in favor.

Even Burma and Iran, which had proposed amendments to tone down the wording of the resolution, cast their votes in favor of the original draft.

Canada joined in co-sponsoring the resolution, spoke during the debate in favor of it, and cast an affirmative vote.

said. At one school 18 per cent of the students were reported ill. Children are main victims, but recover easily.

Ottawa medical health officer Dr. R. A. Kennedy said the flu is striking all sections of the city.

"Trouble with this bug is a person can't do much to avoid catching it." Patients are advised to remain in bed.

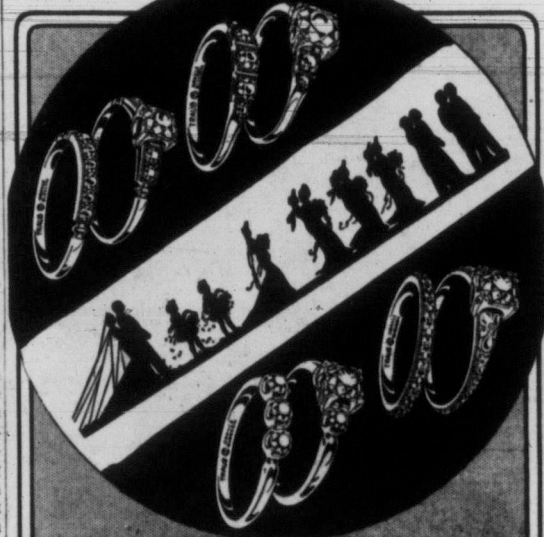

A "mystery" influenza has hit 4,000 persons in Sudbury and Capreol, Ont. King Township near Toronto is affected, so is Sault Ste. Marie and Timmins, also in Ontario.

A news wire report from London, England, says flu has struck among 65,000 sailors aboard 78 British and U.S. warships assembling in the Clyde for NATO exercises next week. One submarine depot is quarantined.

Another 150 cases are reported at Fareham, the RN's largest shore base, and 500 are ill at Shotley naval training school.

Flu has kept 12,000 students home in the northern industrial city of Bradford and more are stricken at Preston and Lileston.

British doctors said most cases reported are listed as suspected Asiatic flu, but symptoms are generally the same, aches and pains and sudden fever as in the "old-fashioned" variety.

had, of course, another purpose in announcing this test at this time; to impress the neutral countries on the eve of the United Nations Assembly with the awesome might of a Russia, which possessed the most advanced and deadly weapons. Moscow always like to make important diplomatic leads from some sensational indication of new military power.

That brings me to the second factor in the Soviet decision to break off the London talks and to reject with something like contempt the latest western package disarmament scheme.

Preoccupied, as always, with the political and propaganda character of those talks, they realize the advantages in transferring them to the larger and public forum of the United Nations Assembly where they can appeal to Asian, Arab and African audiences. They have always shown a greater appreciation of the importance of this platform than we have.

As we resolve our own differences at home. They are too adept at this kind of game which they can play without any regard to domestic opinion, which they control and manipulate, or any other consideration of self-interest. Moreover, this interest can be determined by one man or a small clique who, as Communists, are immune from the ordinary limiting factors of behavior, and don't have to worry about allies.

We have at last, however, acquired a strong disarmament position, in advance of previous positions, and which should be acceptable to all free states. Let's stand firmly on that position as the maximum first-stage contribution to disarmament we can now make.

As for the future, I suggest that this question be tackled in a different way: through a three way approach.

No Alarm Aim of Communists

Stassen attempted to initiate with Mr. Zoria in London with unhappy results.

I do not know whether this kind of approach would be any more successful—in the absence of an easing of world tensions—than the work of the London sub-committee. It would, however, in my view be well worth trying. The effort to reach agreement to limit all arms, and abolish some, must go on; as part of the larger and more vital effort to find security and peace.

(1) Public diplomatic discussion of the principles and policies necessary to limit and reduce armaments should be confined to the United Nations Assembly or to a broadly representative committee of it. Let the open contest for world opinion be held there. The West should take this contest very seriously.

(2) Instead of the London sub-committee, which represented only the two sides in the Cold War and therefore became a sector of the front in that war, the United Nations could submit the technical problem of drafting a model disarmament agreement to a small committee representing countries like Brazil, Sweden and Burma who would find it easier to take an objective look at it. Such a committee should be able to ask for qualified experts on every field of armament and defence through the United Nations Secretary General.

(3) This is most important of all. The U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A., through bilateral diplomatic conversations, should continue to secret their exchanges of views on disarmament and related subjects; the kind of exchange which Mr.

Abdel Kader Hatem, president Gamal Abdel Nasser's Cairo information director, told 500 delegates from 49 nations at the 46th conference of the Inter-parliamentary Union "when Israel talks peace she means war. When she offers friendship, she is preparing for aggression."

Little-Known Professor Stirs Legal Controversy

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The man who blazed into the political limelight this week with an unexpected attack on Canada's present judicial system is a shy, retiring professor of history and economics at the Canadian Tri-Services College at Royal Roads.

The sudden publicity came as something of a shock to 52-year-old Prof. Charles Burchill, for it was the first time during his eight years' residence here that he had become a figure of public controversy.

A considerable section of the public had never heard of him before. But those who know him say he would be the last to express opinions for political reasons or with the idea of seeking publicity.

The furore started when the tall, quiet-spoken professor, in a talk to Victoria Rotary Club, urged the establishment of federal district courts to step in when provincial attorneys-general refuse to lay criminal charges for political reasons.

He also attacked the B.C. government's handling of the Somers case and the Vancouver police probe and claimed that the present judicial system allows political friends of provincial governments to escape punishment while political enemies suffer "the full severity of the law."

Friends and colleagues regard Prof. Burchill as a serious student of political economy and history who has "no axe to grind" but is seriously alarmed by the dwindling authority of Canada's federal government in the realm of law and justice.

He has written several articles for university journals on political history, advocating a better balance of power between provincial and federal governments.

He would like to see a return to conditions existing towards the close of the last century when the federal government had more authority in the enforcement of law throughout Canada.

A sincere democrat, he has repeatedly urged that no government, either provincial or federal, should have too much power.

One of the professor's main interests is improving social conditions among B.C. Indians and assisting their integration into Canadian life.

As president of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, he is regarded by members as a studious, contemplative observer of local conditions, who avoids dogmatic opinion and seldom enforces his authority when presiding at meetings.

SOLID CITIZEN

"I have a very high opinion of him," Lt. Col. G. Howland, treasurer of the society, said today. "He is a good solid citizen who never expresses an opinion on anything unless he is sure of his ground."

"I am certain he would not have attacked Canada's judicial system unless he felt very strongly that it was open to question."

Born at Alameda, Sask., in 1905, Prof. Burchill graduated from Queen's University, Kingston, and later studied at the London School of Economics.

He served with the RCAF during the war, rising to the rank of squadron leader, and on his return to Canada spent two years as professor of history at the University of Alberta.

Students at Royal Roads speak of the professor as an able teacher who brings a quiet, reflective mind to his chosen subjects.

EASY TO APPROACH

He is interested in students' problems, easy to approach at all times and always ready to give individual attention when it is required.

City legal authorities declined comment today on Prof. Burchill's proposal that federal district courts should be set up in each of the 10 provinces of Canada.

"Such a step would require major constitutional changes," one lawyer said, "and I would not care to express an opinion without giving the matter considerable study."

Indian-White Fete, Centenary Suggestion

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Historic Friendly Cove, Nootka, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, next year may become the scene of a gala Indian-white celebration if a special trip from Victoria to the port is approved by the B.C. Centennial Committee.

The B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society Thursday passed a motion suggesting that the centennial committee sponsor a special excursion by boat to Nootka Sound.

Centennial committee chairman Laurie Wallace said today the proposal had "great possibilities."

"It is an excellent suggestion," he said. "It will be seriously considered."

Friendly Cove, situated on Nootka Sound, is one of the most attractive areas on Vancouver Island. It was named and discovered in 1778 by Capt. James Cook.

Cook's seamen landed there and traded with the Indians for valuable furs of sea otters which started the rush to the Pacific Coast and the development of British Columbia.

Friendly Cove is also the oldest port in the Pacific Northwest. Its ownership was once disputed between Britain and Spain and nearly started a war between the two countries.

Betty Newton, who suggested the excursion at the society's meeting, said hundreds of west coast Indians were prepared to meet the ship on its arrival at Friendly Cove.

The Indians, she said, would display their wares and crafts in their historic village for the tourist to view and buy. This was an old custom dating back to the fur trading days. It was discontinued when the CPR stopped its passenger service to Nootka Sound a few years ago.

Mrs. Newton suggested that a party of historians participate in the excursion trip.

Society president Prof. Charles Burchill said the trip would attract hundreds of tourists.

"I'm certain it would go over in a big way," he said.

Cellist Has Symphony Desk But No Roof Over His Head

By AUDREY ST.D. JOHNSON

Out on a limb, but cheerful and optimistic about finding his way to terra firma, is Monsieur Gustave Lamberts, a family man with an engaging smile, a wife and two young daughters—and no English.

The musician, whose native soil is Liege, Belgium, brought his family to Victoria five days ago and looks forward to setting roots down in this new land. The transplant takes, this city will gain a pleasant, cultured family of citizens and the symphony orchestra, a first-class cellist.

In the meantime, Lamberts needs a little help toward getting established. Such as a job—any kind of a job where language doesn't matter. He smiles and nods as his interpreter tells him that Gustave is ready and most willing to do anything at all.

Mrs. Lamberts—Irene—chats happily in English which she learned at school, and already has a part-time job, among helpful and kindly people.

Only other immediate problem

any present personnel but only a strengthening of the orchestra, Local 247 of the Musicians' Union have co-operated in allowing the newcomers full status within the orchestra.

Behind Gustave Lamberts is a history of excellent training in music, honors and diplomas, a professional experience in symphonies, opera orchestras and chamber ensembles.

But in present-day Europe the strain of working long, long hours to gain a pittance for the family, coupled with a bleak outlook for the children, encouraged Mr. and Mrs. Lamberts to take the big gamble—to go out on the limb.

Such a decision must have taken courage. But such decisions and such courage means that we in Canada, year by year, are enriching our own native soil with the fine culture of an older land.

And as far as Mr. Lamberts goes, a meeting with him, even though no word is spoken between you, leaves little room to doubt the eventual solid rooting of a welcome transplant.

BORIS GOLDOVSKY... humorous recitalist.

Scholarly Virtuoso To Open New Series

First of five feature events at the Royal Theatre during the fall and winter season, will be a unique piano recital by one of America's outstanding virtuoso and musical personalities, Boris Goldovsky.

Under management of Famous Artists, Vancouver, Goldovsky comes here on Wednesday, Oct. 16. He is well known to radio listeners as the humorous, scholarly master of ceremonies of the Metropolitan Opera News of the Air and is also a distinguished recitalist.

In addition to four other events, including Yehudi Menuhin, series ticket holders will also have the privilege of buying Royal Ballet (Sadler's Wells) tickets in advance of public sale and at a 10 per cent reduction on opening night at Vancouver's Orpheum Theatre.

The great ballet company will give five night and two matinee performances and will dance, among others, the Firebird, Petrouchka, Les Patineurs, Swan Lake and an excerpt from The Sleeping Beauty. Dates are Dec. 3 to Dec. 7.

A highlight of the Victoria season will be the appearance of Kovach and Rabovsky, Hungarian dancers, and their ensemble. An outstanding attraction in Vancouver last year, this will be their first Victoria performance.

A bass-baritone of ever-growing reputation on both sides of the Atlantic, Jan Rubes, and the delightful Little Gaelic Singers of County Derry (who incidentally both dance and play the fiddle as well), completes the local series.

Tickets for the entire season are now on sale at Kent's Ltd., 742 Fort Street.

Choral Group Symphony Join In Premiere

First public performance scheduled this season by the Victoria Choral Society, will commemorate the 85th birthday year of the distinguished British composer, Ralph Vaughan Williams. It will also be a Canadian premiere performance of one of his latest works.

Graham Steed, Choral Society conductor, announces that a 50-minute composition, the Choral cantata, "Hodie" (This Day), composed by Williams in 1954, will go into rehearsal starting Tuesday evening at 7:30 at Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall.

There are openings for new voices in all sections of the choir and it is emphasized that the society is entirely non-denominational.

Scoring of the work calls for three solo voices, soprano, tenor and baritone, a biblical type of narration by choir boys, and large symphony orchestra.

Presentation will take place at the fifth pair of Victoria Symphony Orchestra concerts, scheduled for Dec. 15 and 16 at the Royal Theatre.

Inspirational quality of the cantata arises in part from the texts from works by Milton, George Herbert, Thomas Hardy and several modern writers.

The newest Cinemascope film, "Search for Paradise," will have its world premiere Sept. 24 at the Warner Theatre in New York. This is the fourth of the Cinemascope process films, which started the big-screen revolution of the movies almost five years ago.

HANS GRUBER CONDUCTS

Orchestra's Rosy Situation 'Relative But Not Absolute'

Two articles appeared in the press this past week, both about symphony orchestras. Both were interesting to read, and even correct in part; both of them, however, either lead to or drew what I think to be incorrect conclusions.

The "rosiness" of the financial situation of the Victoria Symphony Orchestra is, as sun.

Einstein would say, relative, but by no means absolute. Figures were quoted which, though correct in themselves, were nevertheless misleading. Due to the sacrificial work on the part of the Hans Gruber orchestra's board of directors under president Jack Barraclough, and due to open-hearted generosity on the part of many citizens, the largest-ever deficit of last season was fully made up.

Thus, for the first time that I know of, we can begin this season without having to carry the burden of an accumulated loss from the previous season.

In addition, there exists a trust account of some consequence, provided by certain people as a "working capital," or, in effect, as a loan, in order that the society may be able to pay orchestra musicians regularly and on time, their, in any case, more than modest remuneration.

MORATORIUM In the past the society has run out of ready cash almost as soon as the season got under way; with the result that a moratorium had to be declared on all salaries until some weeks or months after the conclusion of the season, when the guarantors assumed their share of at least a part of the deficit, and the musicians could be paid retroactively.

This working capital, however, must be replaced in the trust account each year, as it is, to repeat, in the nature of a loan.

Essentially, therefore, nothing has really changed as regards the financial needs of the Victoria Symphony Society; so long as we shall be expected to provide a series of orchestral concerts of at least an acceptable standard, with qualified soloists and programs of quality, a considerable deficit will be as unavoidable as the setting and the rising of the sun.

And the most generous possible contributions, on the part of more and more people, over and above the purchase of tickets, will continue to be a necessity if our orchestra in its present form is to continue to exist.

All this is not at all a denial of the fact that the financial position of this orchestra is showing an improvement, in that there are indications, that interest in and support of the orchestra are beginning to come a little closer to our needs than at any time in the past.

In this we of the society and the orchestra take gratification. But, above all, are we more than aware that we must continue to earn this increasing interest and support by the quality of our work at each and every concert; for we do not take them for granted, and never will; they must be earned anew every time we play in public.

C (To put to times)

(BB) "THE FUZZY PINK NIGHTGOWN" (Odeon) — If you're in exactly the correct shade of humor for unbelievable hanky-pank wherein a movie star is kidnapped on her way to the premiere of her latest effort and, thereafter, falls in love with one of her captors then "The Fuzzy Pink Nightgown" may be exactly your fit. But for most patrons it will be a misfit.

For the second time in succession the Odeon had come up with extremely light fare. However, the first one, "Tame and the Bachelor" was quite delightful because radiant Debby Reynolds was in it. But it's Jane Russell who wears the fuzzy night attire in the second and on her, as the saying goes, it doesn't look so good.

Director Norman Taurog does his best with the spinnest story but his heart isn't in his work. Even the principals, Jane Russell as the film star, Ralph Meeker and Keenan Wynn as the baddies can't seem

RECORD SHOP

2 Million Mark Seen For Record Players

By HUMPHRY DAVY

It is interesting to note that despite competition from TV and other forms of home entertainment, sale of phonographs and records continues to increase every year. Indication is that interest in music is mounting.

George Cooper, Columbia's sales manager for B.C., who visited Victoria this week, revealed that there are 1,800,000 phonographs in Canada today. He believes the figure will top the 2,000,000 mark by the end of the year.

As for record sales, they have increased by about 40 per cent, he says. What kind of records are people buying? George estimates that about 60 per cent are pops and 40 per cent are classical.

In the last few years an increasing number of listeners have been buying in-between music, such as musicals and light opera. The most successful of these is "My Fair Lady." Over 3,000,000 records of this musical have been sold to date.

"But mind you," he told me, "the classics and more serious music are not lagging behind but increasing proportionately to the pops."

As for Columbia's fall program, George listed some outstanding records to be issued within the next few months. To mention a few there will be music from Warner Bros.

Other choice LP's — "Patti Page" (Mercury). This is a collection of her best-known songs, including "I Went To Your Wedding," "Belafonte Sings of the Caribbean" (RCA Victor), more of Harry's folk songs of the West Indies.

"Big Name Bands" (RCA-Camden), a selection of perennially popular numbers by Wayne King, Guy Lombardo, Vaughn Monroe, Freddy Martin and others.

"Great Hits on Dot," a dozen reissues of pop hits among them Elmo Tanner's fabulous whistling of "Star Dust" and Joe Higgins' bouncy "I've Got a Right to Cry."

Best buy — "Audio Follies" (Cook). This is a sample of excerpts from 15 offbeat albums recorded by one of the country's most daring record companies. Excerpts include wheezes of a circus calloph, the walls and chugging of a steam engine, a zither solo, Dixie jazz and a merry-go-round's strains.

Selected singles — "And That Reminds Me" by Della Reese (Jubilee), "My Personal Possession" by Nat King Cole (Capitol), "My Melancholy Baby" by Somethin' Smith and the Red Heads (Epic) and "Soft Sails" by Dorothy Collins (Coral).

Strong Rally Ends Slump On Canadian Stock Markets

By RON ANDREWS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock markets this week rallied for a three-day advance after they took a heavy beating early in the week.

The recovery was one of the strongest in months and followed the same pattern as the one which lifted Wall Street out of its slump. Coppers were the feature in the final two days of trading.

For months copper stocks had been dropping steadily on the American and Canadian markets as producers and smelters continually lowered the price of the red metal on the world market.

But Thursday a leading United States smelter announced an increase of one-half cent a pound for copper and the stocks reacted with strong gains. The London market was also spurred by further increases by British producers.

The markets fell prey to profit-takers Monday and Tuesday and one of the sharpest losses of the year resulted. But bargain hunters stepped in for the rest of the week, giving the markets a lift which resulted in a recovery of three-quarters of the losses suffered earlier.

NEW LOWS

On the Toronto Stock Exchange, the industrial and base metal indices dropped to new lows for the year during the decline. Industrials lost 10 1/2 points on their index Monday and Tuesday. They recovered all but 2 1/2 points during the remaining three sessions.

The strongest one-session gain since February sparked base metals to an index gain on the week of three points, despite a five-point loss in the first two days.

Observers said the rally was more than a technical readjustment. They said more traders were confident that the markets had successfully tested their February lows and were willing to take advantage of the low prices of stocks, especially in the mining lists.

With the increase in the price of copper, the first since last year, buying of these stocks was strong. Several issues gained 15-40 cents and Opemiska climbed $1.25 to $9.10. Campbell Chibougamau added $1 at $7.50.

FOLLOWED LEAD

Other mines followed the lead given them by coppers. Gains of 25 cents were common among most of the lower-priced mines and senior issues climbed as much as $1.50. Golds, however, had a few moderate losses.

Western oils were taken back by profit-taking, resulting from some strong gains with previous week. The index on the Toronto Stock Exchange drifted back 1 1/2 points and losses ranged to 70 cents.

Home Building In Comeback, U.S. Reports

By WALTER BEEDE JR.
NEW YORK (AP)—U.S. businessmen jittery about recession prospects had cause for mild encouragement this week.

Things seemed to be taking a turn for the better at several key points.

There were signs that the long-dormant home building industry might finally be coming back to life. And copper prices, after undergoing a prolonged sinking spell, started inching up again.

Suppliers of Douglas fir plywood reported a flood of new orders. Paperboard mills ran at full capacity to meet a flurry of demand for cartons for shipping consumer goods from factories to stores.

A pickup in business since Labor Day was reported by retail merchants. Many said sales were running higher than a year ago.

The stock market staged an impressive although indecisive rally.

The steel industry continued to loaf along with operations for the week scheduled at only 83 per cent of capacity. Domestic oil production was close to a two-year low.

BIG QUESTION

Biggest question was how the economy would react to the slow-down in industrial expansion.

For some years now, business and industry have been growing at a record rate. Companies have been pouring a steadily increasing flow of dollars into new plants, machinery, research laboratories and office buildings.

Last year when home building and auto sales went into a slump, a massive surge of capital spending by private companies helped keep business at a high peak. It created new jobs and kept the construction boom rolling.

Since then, spending on expansion has kept on rising, but much more slowly. And now, according to a newly published government survey, the upward curve is flattening out.

During the current quarter, business will spend at a record annual clip of $37,200,000,000. The rate for the final 1957 quarter will continue unchanged.

Total spending this year is placed at $37,000,000,000. Up a mere 6 per cent from last year's peak.

MacMILLAN & BLOEDEL APPOINTMENT

RALPH M. SHAW

Appointment of Ralph M. Shaw as president of MacMillan & Bloedel Limited, at Vancouver, B.C., to succeed H. S. Berryman, is announced by B. M. Hoffmeister, chairman. Mr. Berryman has stepped down from the presidency on the advice of his physician, after serving the company for 29 years. His broad experience and advice will be sought by and available to the company on a continuing basis.

Mr. Shaw, who has been acting president for the past three months, has been directing for several years the company's world wide marketing organization. He was in charge of the Export Section, Canadian Timber Control, during the war, subsequently returning to the company as export sales manager. He became general manager of sales in 1946, and in 1949 vice-president in charge of sales, the position he held at the time of his current appointment.

2 Victoria Grads Honored By Engineers

Two Victoria high school graduates, who tied for the second highest mark in mathematics registered in the province last spring, were presented with slide rules Friday night by the Association of Professional Engineers of B.C.

The awards went to Anthony J. Perry - Whittingham, 2220 Woodhouse, who graduated from Oak Bay High School, and F. Norman - Hamilton, 2650 Beach Drive, who graduated from Victoria High School.

The awards were presented by Reginald Bowering, Victoria, a member of the association's council, during the municipal engineers' division convention in the Empress Hotel.

Both boys scored 97 per cent in mathematics. Tony, who is going to Victoria College this year, is undecided between careers in medicine or engineering. Norman intends to become an aeronautical engineer.

Tourist Experts Converging Here

World-Wide Travel Men See Victoria

Over 300 delegates to a convention of prime importance to B.C.'s tourist trade will meet at Empress Hotel Sunday to start a four-day session of the American Society of Travel Agents.

It is the first time the A.S.T.A. has met in Canada. Members include not only all top-flight travel agents but representatives of government travel bureaus and transportation companies—railways, airlines, steamship companies and coachlines.

Government travel bureaus represented include those of Germany, France, Switzerland, Mexico, Hawaii and Alaska. Travel agents will attend from Arizona, Northern California, Southern California, Honolulu, Nevada, Utah, Oregon, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Alberta, Alaska, Hong Kong and Taipei, Formosa.

C. E. Blaney of Victoria, who is vice-president-elect of the Pacific Northwest Chapter of A.S.T.A., is vice-chairman of the conference, working with Charles B. Best and George E. Hatch of Seattle.

Delegates will arrive via CPR steamer from Seattle Sunday, and will be met by pipes and drums of the Canadian Scottish Regiment, and piped from the dock to the hotel.

JOHN MANNING
... "the rider"

Winner Named Of Nicholas $100 Award

John Manning, sophomore at Victoria College last year, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. E. Manning, 3225 Ripon Road, has been awarded The Victoria Daily Times' B. C. Nicholas Memorial Award of $100, judges announced today.

The prize is given for the best piece of mass-media writing submitted by a student at the college each year.

Honorable mention was extended to three other contestants among a large number of entries noted this year for their originality.

Mr. Manning's winning entry, "The Rider," is a descriptive piece highly successful in creating the mood and emotions of a surf-rider lifting shoreward on the "big wave."

SISTERS IMPRESS

The judges were also impressed by the excellent submissions presented by two sisters, Miss Jacqueline Butt and Miss Dorcas Butt, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Butt, 707 Robleda Crescent, whose articles, short stories and essays were admirably composed, and by the short story, "No Graven Image," entered by Miss Sharon Plows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Plows, 3301 Cedar Hill Road.

In addition to the winner and those receiving honorable mention, several other entrants won commendation for the imagination and vitality shown in their work.

The number of students competing was the largest since the award was first made in 1953. Judges were Mrs. Ross Napier, Stuart Keate, Anthony Emery and A. H. Stott.

Russian Flag At Cenotaph Causes Fuss

An unidentified man caused a mild furore at the Legislature Friday night by raising a Russian flag on the Cenotaph flag-staff.

Minutes later, however, watchman John Stearn had the home-made ensign back to earth.

The man, described as about 20, dark and wearing dark clothes, ran away and was last seen in the grounds of Empress Hotel across the Belleville-Government intersection.

He was thought to be one of a group of UBC students seen in the vicinity at the time.

Mr. Stearn, on duty at the inquiry desk at the buildings, noticed the flag being raised at about 9:15 p.m., after the Canadian ensign was struck at sunset.

HALYARD CUT

He went down to flagstaff and found the halyard sliced through with a knife.

Normally, it would have cost the public works department $80 to hire a rigger to climb the pole and fix the rope in place, but Mr. Stearn had tied a large knot in the halyard Friday after noticing a previous attempt had been made to cut it.

The knot prevented the rope from coming down when it was cut.

Since it was nearly dark at the time, few persons actually saw the Russian emblem flying over the Legislature.

The flag measured three by five feet.

It was taken by city police who are investigating.

Bids Called On School Job

Tenders for alterations and addition to Langford Elementary School, estimated to cost $100,000, will be accepted until Oct. 4 by Clack, Clayton, Pickstone, Victoria architects.

The work contract for Sooke School District 61 was authorized in a 1956 referendum.

Three classrooms will be added as well as an activity room measuring 50 by 72 feet. New kitchen facilities, lavatories and a covered play area containing a 3,000 square feet floor area are also to be provided.

The main addition will form a two-story frame wing extending the school to the north and west. The covered play area will adjoin the south end of the present building.

Completion date is intended to be reached in the early spring of 1958.

Clack, Clayton, Pickstone have nearly completed plans for another $100,000 addition for Sooke Elementary School. Tenders will probably be called in October.

ADVICE, WISERACKS HER REWARD

Ol' Bones Kerr, in and Out Gains Pounds, Loses Half of It

Times' reporter Dinah Kerr is on her third day of Josephine Lowman's nine-day weight-gain diet. Here is the continuing record of her suffering.

By DINAH KERR

The boss is petulant because I lost a half-pound overnight. "He wished to know if I had been out 'disappearing'."

"No," I said. "I went right to bed after my glass of milk."

His voice took on an accusing tone. "Well, why weren't you?" he said. "What I am trying to tell you is that since I started Josephine Lowman's nine-day gaining diet two days ago, I can't seem to do anything right."

People no longer regard me as a person. I have become a 114½-pound stomach.

Josephine tells me to be calm but how can I, Josephine, when I am weighed down by social responsibility and wisecracks?

For instance, after a demoralizing breakfast of hot cakes, I was greeted at the office this morning by a letter from Dr. Trebini, Brentwood hypnotist, mentalist and magician.

He enclosed a picture of "Mr. Bones," a skeleton who is head ghost in the Trebini "House of Thrills."

Mr. Bones is looking for a companion, the doctor said, and "perhaps if the diet doesn't work, you'd be interested."

The hot cakes still lurking around in my stomach, I was then subjected to a phone call from a lady who had been on a gaining program last year. And what was the glad news?

"Well, I gained weight," she said. "My legs and arms are still thin, but I now have a round stomach and a double chin."

I am seriously considering the advice of a trusted friend. "Throw out the diet," he said, "and start drinking lots of stout."

I will mull this over through the weekend, in the meantime stuffing the following in:

SUNDAY BREAKFAST—Corn flakes with sliced banana, one egg, buttered toast, coffee with cream and sugar.

MID-MORNING—Fruit juice, LUNCH—Cream soup, whole wheat bread and American cheese sandwich, fresh fruit.

MID-AFTERNOON—Milk.

DINNER—Helping of roast with gravy, yellow squash, salad of grapefruit and avocado, french dressing, potatoes au gratin, apple dumpling and milk before retiring.

MONDAY BREAKFAST—Fruit juice, whole wheat cereal, buttered toast, four slices of bacon, coffee with cream and sugar.

LUNCH—Cream soup, four stalks of celery stuffed with cheese, buttered rolls, milk, chocolate eclairs.

MID-AFTERNOON—Milk.

DINNER—Salmon loaf or fish with cream sauce, lima beans, broccoli, spinach or greens, steamed carrots, prune whip with whipped cream and nuts, milk before retiring.

THIRTY-TWO HORSE TROOP of Royal Canadian Mounted Police will perform world famous musical ride in Victoria next August 9 and 10, assisted by 45-piece RCMP band, during special B.C. Centennial year tour which will cover 17 centres in the province. Photo shows one phase of the "bridal arch" manoeuvre. Royal Athletic Park probably will be location of performances.

Site Chosen For Marilyn Swim Plaque

The Marilyn Bell memorial plaque will stand on a grassy bluff overlooking the spot where she splashed ashore after swimming Juan de Fuca last year.

The site, chosen by parks administrator W. H. Warren Friday, is about 100 yards east of Finlayson Point.

A public ceremony will see a cairn unveiled there at 10 a.m. Sept. 28 — Marilyn's wedding day. She marries Joseph Wesley Di Lascio, teacher and summer-time lifeguard, at 10 a.m. in Alderwood, Ontario.

Mr. Warren and Capt. E. M. Cavin, who navigated Miss Bell's winning swim course Aug. 23, 1956, visited the landing area Friday. Capt. Cavin said the site for the cairn is directly above the spot where Marilyn reached shore.

DODGED KEEF

"She came in here to avoid that keef bed," he said pointing. "I remember the shore was black with spectators from here to Clover Point."

A footpath which skirts the bluff leads past the site to the lookout on Finlayson Point. The area, shielded from Dallas Road by bushes, makes a scenic picnic spot.

To the east are Trial Island and Clover Point. There is an excellent vista of the strait and the U.S. shore. The world's tallest stone peaks at the spot over roadside trees, and to the north, the top of the Beacon Hill flagpole is just visible.

Parks department will start immediately to prepare a cairn of selected stones. To it will be affixed the large granite plaque donated by the Toronto branch of Canadian Memorial Crafts-men.

Many of the officials who took part in the world-famous swim will be present at the ceremonies. Unveiling will be carried out by Mayor Percy Scourrah.

Fish Trap Worker Stricken; Rushed To City by Boat

Emergency run of a Sooke fishing boat off Beechey Head fish traps at about 9 a.m. today started a fish trap watchman toward medical treatment after he suffered a stroke on the job.

George Barker, about 45, of Sooke, was partially paralyzed on one side when brought by Sooke Ambulance to St. Joseph's Hospital about an hour later.

He is employed by Sooke Harbor Fishing and Packing Co., which sent a boat to bring the victim six miles back to the government wharf at Sooke, where he was examined by a doctor and transferred to the ambulance.

The hospital described his condition at noon as fair.

Record Library Popular; 26,568 Loaned in Year

Almost 100 records a day have been loaned out by Victoria Public Library in the first year of operation of the music department.

Circulation total was 26,568 which meant each of 700 recordings was borrowed an average of 38 times. Breakages were few, but there were quite a few discs returned with scratches. Damage is the responsibility of the lender.

Chief librarian John Lort, who released the circulation figures today, said vocalists in the semi-classical department were most popular with record borrowers. Albums and selections from shows such as "My Fair Lady" led the field.

Cost of the first year of operation has been about $1,600. Records may be kept one week. A borrower may take three at a time or an album.

MONTE ROBERTS

I have decided life is much too complex. If you wish to examine my grey hairs, and decide it is advancing age which has brought me to this conclusion, you are privileged to do so.

But I do not think it is approaching senility alone which has persuaded me life is too complex.

I think it is the Municipal Act, and its application to what are lovingly called the "corner stores."

Let us establish this immediately: I grind no axe, either for or against corner stores.

But I would like to grind an axe in favor of a poor, lowly consumer, whose only wish in life (at the time) was to procure a small bottle of mint sauce.

And if I sound confused, it is because I AM confused, and it is all because of life being too complex.

Here are the facts:

At 6:01 p.m., as a small smattering of leftover cold lamb was about to be served at our house, it was discovered we had no mint sauce, and I was dispatched to obtain a small bottle of same.

At 6:05 p.m., I arrived at our nearest corner store, and I said, "Have you any mint sauce?"

"Yes," I was told.

"A small bottle, please," I said.

"No," I was told.

"Um? What was that?" I inquired.

"No mint sauce," was the answer.

"But you said you have mint sauce," I protested. "You have mint sauce, you are open for business, why cannot you sell me a small bottle of mint sauce?"

"A small bottle of mint sauce is not perishable," I was told. "Under the Municipal Act, we cannot sell non-perishables after 6 p.m."

"Ah, hah," I said, looking about me craftily. "Do you have any FRESH mint?"

"Yes."

"Then I shall have a sprig of FRESH mint, and a small bottle of white vinegar, and I shall make my OWN small bottle of mint sauce," I said, in triumph.

"No," I was told.

"No what?" I asked.

"No bottle of vinegar. Vinegar in a bottle isn't perishable."

"How about if you took the top off the bottle?" I suggested. "Wouldn't the vinegar perish?"

"I'll have to look it up in the Municipal Act," said the owner of the corner store, as I slunk away, hoping I wouldn't be arrested for attempting to contravene the Queen's orders.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Esquimalt council will meet at the Municipal Hall Monday at 7:30 p.m.

Victoria College Film Club, sponsored by the college's evening division, has been closed to further registrations, director R. T. Wallace said today.

The club will meet for the first time at the college on Oct. 5 at 8:15 p.m.

"Other non-credit courses are also attracting heavy registrations and people wanting to attend should make their arrangements early," Mr. Wallace said. "Each year many people wait too long and find at the last minute that the course they wish is already full."

University Extension Talks Listed

First in a series of 1957-58 lectures at Victoria College sponsored by the Victoria University Extension Association will be given Sept. 23 by Dr. Gordon M. Schrum, head of the department of physics and dean of graduate studies at UBC.

Dr. Schrum will speak on "Science in Our Time." The public meeting will start at 8:15 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Other speakers lined up for the association's 34th season of lectures follow:

Oct. 7—Prof. R. P. Dore, department of Asian studies, UBC, speaks on "Japan Since the War."

Oct. 28—Prof. John Willis, UBC faculty of law, speaks on "Law and Justice."

Dec. 9—Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan, UBC head of zoology, speaks on "Canada's Western Arctic."

Victorians have two weeks of daylight saving left. Clocks will be turned back one hour with the end of daylight saving time on Saturday, Sept. 28.

Summer time officially ends at 2 a.m. on Sunday, Sept. 29 when clocks should be put back to 1 a.m.

Directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce will meet at the Empress Hotel next Friday at noon.

Brian Roberts, Grower's Wine Co. Ltd., will speak on "The Political Situation in South Africa" at a meeting of Victoria Gyro Club in the Empress Hotel Monday noon.

A Mayor's Drive for blood donations may become an annual event in Victoria, Red Cross officials said today.

Intervention of the mayor last month brought a record response for a two-day clinic—841 pints.

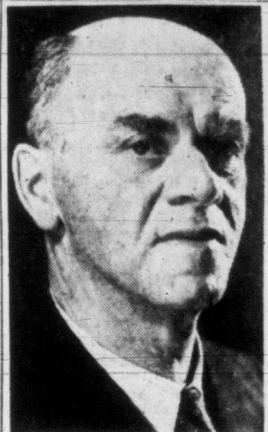

A subsequent clinic, held a week ago brought in 605 pints. "The results were good but not as great as in the mayor's drive with its attendant publicity," a spokesman said.

URGES CONFERENCE

Roy M. Power, 35-year-old president of the Young Liberal Association of Canada, now visiting the west coast, is urging a summer conference for the Young Liberal Association.

He recently attended such a conference in Ontario and is now on a cross-Canada tour seeking to reorganize young Liberals. With increased support he believes the Liberals "will rise to be Her Majesty's loyal opposition," then the government of B.C. and the government of Canada.

Shun Tobacco, Jesuits Told

CASTEL GANDOLFO, Italy (AP)—The Pope has urged members of the Society of Jesus, whose religious order was founded by St. Ignatius Loyola, to shun "superfluous" things—among them tobacco.

The pontiff received generals of the society, now the largest single religious order of the Roman Catholic church, in special audience four days ago. The text of his address—in which the pontiff urged the Jesuits to follow the austere rules of St. Ignatius—was released today.

The pontiff urged the Jesuits to "eliminate without ado and with courage all superfluous things. Among these must be included the use of tobacco, today so diffused and which men enjoy under various forms."

Forest Fire Under Control

OLIVER, B.C. (CP)—A forest fire south of Oliver has been brought under control after burning across 100 acres. A forestry official said that the fire, which broke out Friday at the junction of Inkaneep and McCuddy creeks, six miles from Oliver. Twenty men from the Oliver saw-mills brought the blaze under control.

Dog Guards Unconscious Boy

WAINWRIGHT, Alta. (CP)—A six-year-old Edmonton boy, missing nearly 20 hours after wandering into bush country with the family dog Friday, was found unconscious today.

Roger Ducharme lay in a slough, partly covered by water, with the dog standing guard. RCMP, who organized a 250-man search for him Friday, said Roger had wandered about five miles from a Wainwright district farmhouse where his foster parents were visiting.

Troops Patrol Brazil City

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (Reuters)—Federal troops patrolled the streets of the north Brazilian city of Maceio today to forestall riots following Friday's 40-minute gun battle in the state assembly.

Killed were the Alagoas state governor's father-in-law and an opposition deputy, Carlos Gomes. Four other deputies were injured. The city remained tense as federal troops quelled skirmishes between armed civilian groups.

Fire Sweeps Island of Corsica

AJACCIO, Corsica (AP)—A roaring forest fire that swept across this Mediterranean island, killing at least nine persons, was brought under control today.

Fires along the French Riviera also were reported under control.

Russians Aim At Confusion

By HON. LESTER B. PEARSON
(Copyright, 1957. All rights reserved.)

The decision last week of the United Nations sub-committee on disarmament to adjourn its meetings in London indefinitely—it is doubtful whether it will meet again—should be read in the light of two developments: (1) The Russian announcement of a successful test of an intercontinental ballistic missile and (2) The forthcoming meeting of the United Nations General Assembly.

The first has caused—as the Russians meant it to cause—some alarmed speculation about Russian leadership in this field of weapons and gloomy warnings that if we did not now succeed in disarming at least atomically—we would all perish.

PEARSON

The fact that the Russians have fired a ballistic missile does not mean, however, that the Soviets have now, or are likely to have in the immediate future, these weapons in production and ready for military use. Nor does it at once alter significantly, if at all, the "balance of terror" against the West. The U.S.A., and now the U.K., have still adequate capacity for immediate and effective "massive retaliation."

While the implications of the situation are bad enough, there is no cause for exaggerated alarm—which is what the Communists want. The West will soon have produced its own reply to the new Russian weapon. It would come even sooner if within governments and between governments there were a single, centralized effort in the search for it. When it does, we will be just where we were—apart from the necessity of scrapping bombers and completely revising early warning and interception defence systems.

Our compelling purpose now should be to accept the implications of these ballistic missile developments, not only in terms of new defences but also of the extra diplomatic effort for peace and disarmament which becomes more and more pressing. But we should not allow these separate Russian announcements, designed to throw us off balance, distract us from this goal by ill-considered and hasty moves.

INDIA SEEKS UN SEAT FOR COMMUNIST CHINA

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—India moved today to get Communist China seated in the United Nations Assembly's 12th session, starting Tuesday.

Indian delegate Arthur S. Lall said he gave Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjöld a letter late Friday night proposing the assembly put on its agenda the question of "representation of China in the United Nations."

The United States is certain to oppose the proposal.

Special Session 60-to-10 Vote Censures Oppression of Hungary

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP)—The 11th General Assembly of the United Nations passed into history early today with a vote on Hungary—one of two major questions which confronted it at its inception since last autumn.

Integration Pledged By Faubus

NEWPORT, R.I. (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that Arkansas Gov. Orval E. Faubus had stated that he would respect the decision of the federal government in integrating the central high school in Little Rock.

Faubus said that he expected the department of justice and the federal courts "will act with understanding and patience in discharging their duties."

The statements of the president and the governor were made after they had met together for two hours and 10 minutes this morning to discuss the situation at Little Rock which had seen national guard troops barring nine Negro students from central high school.

Eisenhower said: "I recognize the inescapable responsibility resting upon the governor to preserve law and order in his state," he said. "I am gratified by his constructive and co-operative attitude at our meeting. I have assured the governor of the co-operation of federal officials."

Mainland Hunter Killed

ABBOTSFORD (CP)—Leonard Sylte, about 30, assistant manager of the Clayburn-Harverson Co., was killed today in the first shooting accident of the 1957 B.C. hunting season.

RCMP said Sylte and three other men—George Mathers, Joseph Mathers and Jack De Fehr—were hunting on Sumas Mountain, about seven miles east of here.

The party is understood to have split up into pairs and one of the men fired a shot, accidentally striking Sylte in the back, upon seeing a movement in the bush.

A special session ended at 1 a.m. when the assembly voted 60 to 10, with 10 abstentions, for a renewed condemnation of Russia for its repressive measures against the Hungarian people, and of the Communist government of Hungary itself for its part in the suppression.

The special session was called to keep the Hungarian question alive in the 12th assembly which opens Tuesday. It was a continuation—or a tag-end in the view of many delegations—of the General Assembly which opened last November with the Hungarian and Suez crisis at the boiling point.

SET UP UN FORCE

During the winter the Middle East crisis was resolved to a large extent through the use of the UN Emergency Force in the Suez area.

The Hungarian crisis resolved itself—the hard way—after Russia intervened to crush the uprising. The revolt was dead, but the West made continued efforts to keep its memory

British Atom Blast Starts New Series

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—The first atomic explosion in a new series of British tests was set off today from a tower at the Maralinga test area.

More than 1,000 Britons, Australians and Canadians, including 200 scientists, conducted the test. Immediately after the explosion a task force of 40 RAF planes began checking on fallout.

Scientists said they were delighted with the results.

NEW YORK (UP)—The Communications Workers of America and the Western Electric Co. resumed contract negotiations today, one step nearer an agreement that would avert a nationwide walkout of telephone equipment installers set for Monday.

Bolton Keeps Seven-Year Soccer Mark

LONDON (UP)—Bolton, which hasn't lost a home soccer game to Manchester United in seven years, kept that jinx alive today by handing the league leaders their first loss of the year, 4-0.

Bolton took a 1-0 lead over the glamor team of Britain in the first half and surprised even the most loyal home-town rooters with its second-half attack. Leading the Bolton offence was Nat Lofthouse, an international star now playing centre-forward again after a spell at wing.

Manchester United, with 11 points in seven games, held its league lead when lowly regarded Aston Villa surprised second-place Luton, 2-0.

Asia 'Flu Cases Suspected Here

Suspicion that Asiatic flu, or a derivative of that virus, is already active in Victoria was voiced today by Victoria-Esquamalt medical health officer, Dr. Elizabeth Mahaffy.

She was commenting on news reports of a heavy incidence of a type of influenza, not necessarily the Asiatic variety, that is sweeping sections of the country.

There are "a few" cases in town, she said, but no tests have yet been taken by local doctors, to her knowledge.

There is a flu going the rounds " . . . which could have started as Asiatic flu." The doctor explained the flu virus "mutates" or changes in quality as it passes through a population.

"I don't think it is very bad if it is here. When it hits school first case or 'index case,' the attendance we'll know it's here." So far, the doctor said, school nurses have reported school absenteeism is "normal."

The flu which has been reported to the doctor, " . . . is since reaching this continent is more severe than the usual cold. I have asked doctors to make tests, but I don't know whether any have done so yet." The only laboratory conducting tests of blood of flu victims is in Ottawa. If there is sudden widespread illness here, symptoms will be noted and tests made.

After confirmation of the first case or "index case," the attendance will be accepted as present wherever the same symptoms are noted.

Possibility that the Asiatic flu virus has changed in nature is contained in widespread reports of influenza, not labeled Asiatic.

Island Woods Closed Off To Hunters

Current hot spell that drove the official thermometer Friday to a new high for the year will continue through Sunday, according to weatherman William Mackie.

Highest temperature Friday, which also is the highest for this year and for any Sept. 13 here in Victoria, was 81.2 degrees. He said the maximum temperature today and Sunday will be about 80 degrees.

Although holidayers and picnickers are jubilant about the present clear, sunny, hot weather, hunters are annoyed at the possible fire hazard it has created.

MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd., that had announced weeks ago that its lands would be open to hunters, on Friday said they would be closed for the opening of deer season today.

Areas affected are Copper Canyon at Chemainus, Nanaimo River, Northwest Bay at Parksville, Sproat Lake near Alberni, and Franklin River on the Alberni Canal.

Also closed to hunters were operations of Comox Logging and Railway Co. Ltd. at Ladysmith, Nanaimo Lakes, and Tsolum, near Courtenay.

CALCULATED RISK

B.C. Forest Service has placed no restrictions on the forests.

"We are taking a calculated risk and are leaving the forests open," one official said. "This has proved to be safe slash burning weather, because the humidity at night is high enough to control fires. Slash fires reaching green timber have been going out because of the high humidity in the green forests."

Highest temperature ever recorded here in September was 88.5 degrees Sept. 5, 1944. Highest Sept. 14 temperature was 88 degrees recorded in 1937.

Queen, Philip Disturbed At Press

LONDON (CP)—The Queen has made known that she and Prince Philip are disturbed about what they feel to be excessive newspaper coverage of their activities.

Her press secretary, Cmdr. Richard Colville, has advised newspaper representatives that he hopes something can be done through press co-operation to improve the situation. Colville has had talks with a committee of the press council, a newspaper supervisory organization.

Colville said the Queen and Philip are not like presidents, who come and go, but are in the limelight all of their lives. They were particularly worried about the tendency of journalists to over-publicize the activities of the royal children.

Robinson Sued for $169,084

NEW YORK (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson has been sued for $169,084 by Ernie Braca, one of his former managers.

The middleweight champion was served with the summons Friday at his Greenwood Lake, N.Y., training camp, where he is preparing for his Sept. 23 title defence against Carmen Basilio, the welterweight champ.

One part of the suit is for $119,084 and names Robinson and Harold Johnson, one of his advisors, as co-defendants. It alleges breach of contract.

With all th' advertisin' thet flu gits y'd think it wuz somethin' they're sellin'.

As a student o' history thet Royal Roads professor seems t' hev made a bit o' it too.

Know Your Teacher

MRS. K. COCHRANE
... Nice to be back.

Ex-Teachers Of Teacher Colleagues

Two teachers who taught her in grade eight are now fellow staffers for Mrs. Kathleen Cochrane, 26, at Monterey School.

Principal W. C. Brynjolfson and vice-principal Joseph P. Emery have been teaching at Monterey through the years that Mrs. Cochrane completed her education at Oak Bay High School, Victoria College, and the Provincial Normal School—then taught for six years before returning to Monterey.

Her teaching experience is gained from three years at a Burnaby school and another three at University Hill elementary school on the UBC campus.

Now Mrs. Cochrane is passing on her knowledge to Monterey's grade three students.

A graduate of the architectural school at UBC, her husband Andrew, 28, came to Victoria to work for the provincial public works department and "it's certainly nice to be back," Mrs. Cochrane said.

The couple is moving into a new apartment at 1171 Newport with the hope they can move into a Cochrane-designed house in the near future.

Workmen plowed trenches to tap a water main flowing toward Fyde Street—already shaken by a crater 50 feet square and 25 feet deep which wrecked 24 houses and forced evacuation of 118 others.

Cracks in the ground spread out like an octopus, undermining the centre of the densely-populated residential district in this town of 26,000.

The cave-in, first discovered Thursday morning, was blamed on the collapse of a water main running under the street.

There are indications, some officials said, that veins of a long-abandoned coal mine had weakened the earth's surface.

alive through continual moral intervention.

Thirty-five other countries joined the U.S. and Britain in sponsoring the new condemnatory resolution, which contained a further clause calling for a UN representative to carry on the assembly's efforts to aid the Hungarian people.

Nominated for this task was Prince Wan Waihayakon of Thailand, president of the outgoing assembly and a diplomat who is personally popular with both the Soviet and Western groups. In addition, he is identified with the powerful Asian-African voting bloc which is growing in influence in the one-country one-vote assembly.

The only negative votes were cast by the nine Soviet-bloc countries and Yugoslavia.

The Arab countries were divided. Syria, which has given indications of moving closer to the Communist camp, abstained. Lebanon, Iraq, Jordan, Tunisia, Morocco, Libya and the Sudan voted in favor.

Even Burma and Iran, which had proposed amendments to tone down the wording of the resolution, cast their votes in favor of the original draft.

Canada joined in co-sponsoring the resolution, spoke during the debate in favor of it, and cast an affirmative vote.

said. At one school 18 per cent of the students were reported ill. Children are main victims, but recover easily.

Ottawa medical health officer Dr. R. A. Kennedy said the flu is striking all sections of the city.

"Trouble with this bug is a person can't do much to avoid catching it," Patients are advised to remain in bed.

A "mystery" influenza has hit 4,000 persons in Sudbury and Capreol, Ont. King Township near Toronto is affected, so is Sault Ste. Marie and Timmins, also in Ontario.

A news wire report from London, England, says flu has struck among 65,000 sailors aboard 78 British and U.S. warships assembling in the Clyde for NATO exercises next week. One submarine depot is quarantined.

Another 150 cases are reported at Fareham, the RN's largest shore base, and 500 are ill at Shotley naval training school.

Flu has kept 12,000 students home in the northern industrial city of Bradford and more are stricken at Preston and Lileston.

British doctors said most cases reported are listed as suspected Asiatic flu, but symptoms are generally the same, aches and pains and sudden fever as in the "old-fashioned" variety.

Curtis Defends City's Grant

A defence of city council action in granting $2,100 to a Canadian Chamber of Commerce civic banquet here Sept. 28, was issued today by alderman Austin L. Curtis.

Heavy criticism has been directed at the grant recently by Ald. Hugh Ramsay, Ald. J. Donald Smith and in published statements by the public at large.

In his capacity as entertainment committee chairman for City Hall, Ald. Curtis pointed out:

"After examining programs of former annual meetings of this body (the national chamber), as far back as they are available, in every case the host city tendered such an affair." It was his impression, said Ald. Curtis, that most of our citizens would want to do the same.

"This bringing together in one place approximately 700 leading industrialists and businessmen is eagerly sought out by cities right across Canada, believing it is good business to have such an influential party visit their locality."

LONG-RANGE BENEFIT
"Apart from the immediate monetary benefit derived from such a large number of people visiting the city for five days, it is possible that considerable financial benefits of a permanent nature may later accrue."

He added it is not generally known local business firms and individuals have already committed themselves to the extent of $14,000 in the matter of entertaining these visitors, "... and showing them what we have in this area."

Ald. Curtis added, "For many years a grant of $2,000 has been turned over annually to the Chamber of Commerce by the city, but was discontinued this year and in addition the newly-imposed business tax will result in business interests paying into the city an extra $160,000 beyond the amount previously collected through trade licences."

The grant question is expected to be re-opened by Ald. Ramsay at a city council meeting Thursday.

PEARSON

had, of course, another purpose in announcing this test at this time; to impress the neutral countries on the eve of the United Nations Assembly with the awesome might of a Russia, which possessed the most advanced and deadly weapons. Moscow always like to make important diplomatic leads from some sensational indication of new military power.

That brings me to the second factor in the Soviet decision to break off the London talks and to reject with something like contempt the latest western package disarmament scheme.

Preoccupied, as always, with the political and propaganda character of those talks, they realize the advantages in transferring them to the larger and public forum of the United Nations Assembly where they can appeal to Asian, Arab and African audiences. They have always shown a greater appreciation of the importance of this platform than we have.

Initiative Must Be Held

So the debate on disarmament will loom large at next week's Assembly. It is to be hoped that the four Western delegations to the London sub-committee—and this includes the Canadian—will take the initiative, and hold it, in this debate; emphasizing the far-reaching character of the disarmament proposals they have now made and which were rejected with such scant consideration by the Soviet Government as having "nothing of value in them."

These proposals do indeed present a strong Western position. They should have been formulated and submitted long ago. It is unfortunate that the necessity for resolving domestic differences within governments, especially in Washington, and the tendency to manoeuvre and bargain, prevented this from happening. We can't beat the Russians by shifting our position periodically in their direction.

No Alarm Aim of Communists

(1) Public diplomatic discussion of the principles and policies necessary to limit and reduce armaments should be confined to the United Nations Assembly or to a broadly representative committee of it. Let the open contest for world opinion be held there. The West should take this contest very seriously.

(2) Instead of the London sub-committee, which represented only the two sides in the Cold War and therefore became a sector of the front in that war, the United Nations could submit the technical problem of drafting a model disarmament agreement to a small committee representing countries like Brazil, Sweden and Burma who would find it easier to take an objective look at it. Such a committee should be able to ask for qualified experts on every field of armament and defence through the United Nations Secretary General.

(3) This is most important of all. The U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A., through bilateral diplomatic conversations, should continue to secrete their exchanges of views on disarmament and related subjects; the kind of exchange which Mr. Stassen attempted to initiate with Mr. Zorin in London with unhappy results.

I do not know whether this kind of approach would be any more successful—in the absence of an easing of world tensions—than the work of the London sub-committee. It would, however, in my view be well worth trying. The effort to reach agreement to limit all arms, and abolish some, must go on; as part of the larger and more vital effort to find security and peace.

Little-Known Professor Stirs Legal Controversy

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

The man who blazed into the political limelight this week with an unexpected attack on Canada's present judicial system is a shy, retiring professor of history and economics at the Canadian Tri-Services College at Royal Roads.

The sudden publicity came as something of a shock to 52-year-old Prof. Charles Burchill, for it was the first time during his eight years' residence here that he had become a figure of public controversy.

A considerable section of the public had never heard of him before. But those who know him say he would be the last to express opinions for political reasons or with the idea of seeking publicity.

The furore started when the tall, quiet-spoken professor, in a talk to Victoria Rotary Club, urged the establishment of federal district courts to step in when provincial attorneys-general refuse to lay criminal charges for political reasons.

He also attacked the B.C. government's handling of the Somers case and the Vancouver police probe and claimed that the present judicial system allows political friends of provincial governments to escape punishment while political enemies suffer "the full severity of the law."

Friends and colleagues regard Prof. Burchill as a serious student of political economy and history who has "no axe to grind" but is seriously alarmed by the dwindling authority of Canada's federal government in the realm of law and justice.

He has written several articles for university journals on political history, advocating a better balance of power between provincial and federal governments.

He would like to see a return to conditions existing towards the close of the last century when the federal government had more authority in the enforcement of law throughout Canada.

A sincere democrat, he has repeatedly urged that no government, either provincial or federal, should have too much power.

One of the professor's main interests is improving social conditions among B.C. Indians and assisting their integration into Canadian life.

As president of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society, he is regarded by members as a studious, contemplative observer of local conditions, who avoids dogmatic opinion and seldom enforces his authority when presiding at meetings.

SOLID CITIZEN

"I have a very high opinion of him," Lt. Col. G. Howland, treasurer of the society, said today. "He is a good solid citizen who never expresses an opinion on anything unless he is sure of his ground."

"I am certain he would not have attacked Canada's judicial system unless he felt very strongly that it was open to question."

Born at Alameda, Sask., in 1905, Prof. Burchill graduated from Queen's University, Kingston, and later studied at the London School of Economics.

He served with the RCAF during the war, rising to the rank of squadron leader, and on his return to Canada spent two years as professor of history at the University of Alberta.

Students at Royal Roads speak of the professor as an able teacher who brings a quiet, reflective mind to his chosen subjects.

EASY TO APPROACH

He is interested in students' problems, easy to approach at all times and always ready to give individual attention when it is required.

City legal authorities declined comment today on Prof. Burchill's proposal that federal district courts should be set up in each of the 10 provinces of Canada.

"Such a step would require major constitutional changes," one lawyer said, "and I would not care to express an opinion without giving the matter considerable study."

Indian-White Fete, Centenary Suggestion

By HUMPHRY DAVY

Historic Friendly Cove, Nootka, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, next year may become the scene of a gala Indian-white celebration if a special trip from Victoria to the port is approved by the B.C. Centennial Committee.

The B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society Thursday passed a motion suggesting that the centennial committee sponsor a special excursion by boat to Nootka Sound.

Centennial committee chairman Laurie Wallace said today the proposal had "great possibilities."

"It is an excellent suggestion," he said, "it will be seriously considered."

Friendly Cove, situated on Nootka Sound, is one of the most attractive areas on Vancouver Island. It was named and discovered in 1778 by Capt. James Cook.

Cook's seamen landed there and traded with the Indians for valuable furs of sea otters which started the rush to the Pacific Coast and the development of British Columbia.

Friendly Cove is also the oldest port in the Pacific Northwest. Its ownership was once disputed between Britain and Spain and nearly started a war between the two countries.

Betty Newton, who suggested the excursion at the society's meeting, said hundreds of west coast Indians were prepared to meet the ship on its arrival at Friendly Cove.

The Indians, she said, would display their wares and crafts in their historic village for the tourist to view and buy. This was an old custom dating back to the fur trading days. It was discontinued when the CPR stopped its passenger service to Nootka Sound a few years ago.

Mrs. Newton suggested that a party of historians participate in the excursion trip.

Society president Prof. Charles Burchill said the trip would attract hundreds of tourists.

"I'm certain it would go over in a big way," he said.
